

STUDENTS ENJOY THANKSGIVING PROGRAM

MANY VISITORS PRESENT

On Thursday morning, Nov. 23, at 10 o'clock a Thanksgiving program was given by the students of Freed-Hardeman College in the auditorium of the Administration Building. All the Freed-Hardeman students and a number of visitors were present.

Everyone joined heartily in singing "America" to open the program. The Scripture reading was by Bro. C. P. Burkhead and Bro. C. P. Burkhead lead the prayer following. Immediately after the devotional exercises, Frank Payne delivered the first Thanksgiving proclamation, issued by Geo. Washington on Oct. 3, 1795. The proclamation of 1863, issued by President Roosevelt, was given by Raymond Johnson.

The Primary department's Kie Band then gave a patriotic number. Miss Annie Margaret Carson next gave a short reading. Following a talk made by Ed Johnson on the origin and significance of Thanksgiving, a male quartette composed of Fred Walker, Leon Hardin, Lynn Browning and Paul Tucker sang two songs. Sarah Elizabeth Roy gave a reading "After the Football Game". Next, Worley Ward sang solo and was accompanied by Mrs. N. B. Hardeman, and was followed by musical reading by Jamie Chambers, with Murel Kent as accompanist.

In conclusion Miss Tracy and Gurla B. Daniels sang a det. Judging by the applause of the audience, the program was a very enjoyable one.

Mrs. West Resumes Primary Work

Mrs. Irene West accompanied by her son Earle, of Columbia, Tennessee, has returned to F. H. C. to resume her duties as Primary Instructor. Mrs. West's delay in coming has been occasioned by the serious illness of her mother, Mrs. F. C. Sowell, of Columbia, Tennessee.

Mrs. Sowell passed away on November 19, and her funeral took place November 20th in Columbia, was conducted by Bro. N. B. Hardeman and other old friends of the family. The school extends to Mrs. West its sincere sympathy in her bereavement and its hearty welcome in her return to F. H. C.

During Mrs. West's absence Miss Wilma Jo Tracy filled her position. Miss Tracy is now assisting in the Library.

FOOTBALL LIONS OF 1933

The team is much better than the record shows, and they have had a fairly successful season. The boys are, starting at the top row, left to right: Miskelly, Pitner, Mainord, Kent, Bulliner, Roland, Barton, Coach Barkley. Second row: Hopper, Anderson, Gibbs, Scott, Phillips, Denton, Weeks and Hudson. Bottom row: McAdams, Hamilton, King, Gross, Fields, Winston, Johnson and Thurman.

F. H. C. Lets Up For Xmas

CHRISTMAS UNIVERSALLY CELEBRATED

The most joyous holiday season of the year is at hand and Freed-Hardeman college responds by dismissing on Thursday, December 21, to resume work after the vacation on Tuesday, January 2.

Our attention is called to the fact that Christmas was begun as a church festival acknowledging the birth of Christ; however we also know that many of the old Christian customs and symbols were taken over by pagan festivals. The Yule log, holly and mistletoes are relics of pagan observances. As it has been almost proved that December 25, could not have been the day on which Christ was born [authorities declare that the shepherds did not tend their flocks at that season], it is interesting to know that the establishment of Christmas on that day was because of the fact that it marked the beginning of the great winter festival of the pagan Gauls, Germans and Britons.

Christmas is the most widely celebrated of all the holidays, each country in its own peculiar way. In England and America the children hang up their stockings in a row before the fireplace, expecting Santa Claus to fill them while they are asleep.

Although some of the Freed-Hardeman students have outgrown the belief in Santa Claus, upon being asked all report that they expect to have a merry Christmas and a happy New Year.

Football squad got together and elected a captain and an alternate captain for 1934. John L. Weeks, was elected captain for his final year, and Don Hamilton was elected the alternate captain.

Christmas Greetings

The Sky-Rocket staff extends to all a Merry Christmas. We wish for everyone much happiness through the holiday season and hope to see you back in January.

F. H. C. Student Killed In Wreck

Freed-Hardeman was greatly saddened on learning of the sudden death of one of its members, Sunday night, Dec. 10. Roy Plunk, of Finger, was almost instantly killed when the automobile in which he was riding in the northern part of McNairy county collided headon with another car. In the collision his throat was cut by a piece of broken windshield and death followed in a very few minutes. The funeral services were conducted at New Hope church Monday afternoon. The College bus took a group of Roy's classmates; and Bro. W. C. Hall, one of Roy's teachers, made a short but appropriate talk.

Roy entered school with us in September and had just completed his first quarter of college work, doing a very creditable grade of work. We have learned that he had looked forward eagerly to attending school with us having worked hard and economized all during the first six or eight months of this year in order to be able to be with us. It grieves us all the more deeply to consider such anxiety, such industry, such tireless ambition, and on the other hand to think how quickly, how finally, how needlessly all may be lost.

Freed-Hardeman extends its genuine sympathy to the bereaved family and mingles its grief with their own.

Lion Cagers Start Good Season

DEFEAT LINDEN IND. 65 TO 19

The Lion Cagers started the season off well by defeating the Linden Independents, 65 to 19, Monday, Dec. 11. A picked team from the High School and College departments also beat the Henderson Independents, 33 to 25.

Five "old" men started the game with Linden but when they had run up the score considerably Coach Barkley immediately put in a complete new outfit. Both teams scored against Linden almost at will.

The boys played a good game all the way through with no outstanding player. Mayfield, who is an addition to the team of last year, was high point man with 14 points. Hamilton was high point man for the picked team against Henderson.

The line-up for the Linden F. H. C game is:

F. H. C.	Linden
Lambert	Godwin
Leeper	Westbrook
Kennedy	Culp
Weeks	Savage
Farrell	Sharp

Substitutes: F. H. C. Miskelly, Brewer, Mayfield, Graham, Barton, Clayton.

New Players Added Girls Squad

The Freed-Hardeman Cageresses have prospects for a great team this season. With many new players and a large per cent of the old ones back their opponents will have to be on the alert to beat them.

Kerby Farrell is in charge of the girls and with his experience as a ball player, he is expected to

BRO. HARDEMAN HOLDS SUCCESSFUL MEETING

20 MEMBERS ARE ADDED

On Friday night, Nov. 24, Bro. N. B. Hardeman closed out a meeting highly successful, in every respect for the Church of Christ at Henderson. The results in number of additions were 20 baptized; and judging from the interest manifested throughout the meeting and the favorable remarks made, the value received by the church and community in straightforward Bible lessons is inestimable.

Bro. Hardeman began his part of the meeting with a series of forceful discourses on "The Three Dispensations" clearly showing that we are under the Christian, and that only; and ended with a specially requested sermon, "The Difference Between the Church of Christ and the Christian Church," one that will be long remembered for its vigor and clarity.

When Bro. Hardeman was called to Columbia to preach the funeral of Mrs. West's mother, Bro. C. P. Roland, Dean of F. H. C. substituted in an able discourse on "The Blood of Christ." Among other subjects discussed by Bro. Hardeman were: "The Church", "The Adaptation of the Gospel to Man", "Repentance", "Walking By Faith", and "The Saviour's Invitation."

Orchestra Prospects Are Good

Mrs. Hardeman is hoping to develop a good orchestra by January or February. There are several old players and also new ones that expect to play. Prospects showed that Freed-Hardeman should have one of the best orchestras that it has had in several years.

The following compose the orchestra; Mildred Tate and Leon Hardin, clarinets, Delma Pinkston John L. Weeks and Frank Walker Romine, violins; John Gore Eugene Scott, Tommy Craig and Ivan Folwell, trumpets; Charles Roland, saxophone; Don Hamilton, mellophone; and Jimmie Faulkner, trombone.

develop a good team. At the beginning of the winter quarter several new players enrolled.

The basket ball girls that have been in school the first quarter and have been practicing are: Todd, Helms, Anderson, Brigance, Ward, Starkey, Vernon, Pinkston, Pearson, Bonner, Hubbard, Nell Johnson, Hardeman, Hawkins, Natalie Johnson.

The ones that started this quarter are: Webb, Wright, Baker, Howell, and Patten.

Lend Your Support

We all remember the great football game the boys played against Lambuth sometime back. We also remember hearing about that a poor game played against some of the other teams this year.

Do you suppose that it was because Freed-Hardeman had a better team at one time than they did at another? No! It was not, but you remember the bon-fire and pep meeting we had before the Lambuth game? The boys were more anxious to win than to do anything else that they could think of. Why? Because the students were behind them for every thing they were worth and the team appreciated it and they wanted to show their appreciation.

It means a lot to a school to have a winning ball team so without more to say let's all lend our support to our Basket Ball teams.

Christmas

Although there is uncertainty as to the date of the birth of the Messiah, the spirit which characterizes the approach of the Christmas holidays is one that is reflective of the magnanimous teachings of Christ. One does not have to be disposed to accept that Christ was actually born on December 25 to properly carry out the sentiments and engage enthusiastically in the celebration of the Yuletide.

We need neither to be extremists who insist on the exact date of the birth of Christ, nor those who are too prejudiced to link the observance of Christmas with any phase of Christianity whatsoever. The exact date of his birth is of little consequence since we have no divine precept for the observance of such. It behooves Christian people to manifest the noble spirit of charity on every occasion and especially the one that may be set aside by those in authority.

Think Ahead

Three-fourths of every high school and college student graduating class leave school with no definite aim in view--no plans whatever upon which to build their future.

It seems as if those just beginning their college career would begin to think about their future. However, the more examples we have set before us the more inclined we are to disregard these examples--human nature I suppose.

Have some definite aim in view, something toward which you are working. If you have no goal, you are apt to drift along--"a most pitiable sight to behold."

Don't let this happen to you, students. Begin to prepare for the future. Life lies in the palm of your hand--there is nothing to stop you if you have the right qualities.

Think ahead, be prepared for the future and what its golden years may bring. Begin this quarter, plan your plans and do not be caught with your back to the wall.

R. E. HENSON

R. E. Henson, who is the minister of the Church of Christ here, was born in Benton, Kentucky. After finishing High School and two years' work in the National Teachers' Normal and Business College (now Freed-Hardeman) he taught four years in the schools of his county. He resigned as teacher to accept a government position, from which he also resigned in March, 1927 and began preaching the gospel. He further prepared himself by two years work at F. H. C. 1925-26-27 and two years' work at the State Teachers' College in Memphis. His work as a preacher has carried him over Illinois, Kentucky, Mississippi, Tennessee, Texas, and Missouri and he has everywhere met with success.

Miscellaneous Meditations

LIQUOR CONTROL

With the passing of prohibition arises the momentous question of "How shall the sale of liquor be controlled?" In the first place it is a reflection on the good sense and sobriety of the American people that there had to be such a thing as a law to enforce complete prohibition, and now that we are obliged to have legal leases to restrain us from something so obviously obnoxious. Nevertheless this must be admitted to be true.

It has been said that Americans are naturally hard-drinkers, those that drink, at least. This must be so, because we are told that in the saloon days, there was little moderate drinking, but that the lengths to which drunken revelry was carried necessitated such stringent measures as the 18th Amendment and the Volstead Act.

Why cannot the American people, if they have to drink, be as moderate as those in foreign countries are represented as being? It seems that this country would come some nearer the solution if we imitated the plan of our neighbors in the Dominion of Canada, by which a person is allowed only so much whiskey per month or year, and, in most cases the liquor can be consumed only on the buyer's own premises.

The Christian religion has been a potent factor in curbing the evils of intemperance, and the facts that prohibition has been abolished does not mean that this work is for naught. Instilled in the hearts of the American people by the schools' the pulpits, and the presses, the principles of true Christian temperance will not readily be removed. It remains for these leaders today to apply the unadulterated word of God constantly to the plastic minds of those who will be exposed to temptations, and for each individual to remember that true manhood or womanhood will not permit him to be subjected to such base captivity of strong drink.

Giving

The spirit of Christmas is a noble one--giving to others. Like Shakespeare's mercy, "It is twice blest," it blesses him that gives and him that takes. How good is one made to feel when he knows that the recipient of his gift or one for whom he has rendered a service is properly appreciative of that and manifests gratitude from a sincere heart.

Paul said, "remember the words of the Lord Jesus that he himself said, 'It is more blessed to give than to receive.'" Finite man was not original enough to enunciate such philosophy, yet he who has tried giving in the proper spirit will attest to the veracity of that gem of divine wisdom. Who is so callous that he does not feel gratification when he sees the face of someone lighted up with joy at receiving a gift from him? Do we not feel solicitude about whether our gift is to be acceptable or not? If it is a blessing to our fellow-man, then the deed like a cancelled check comes back to bless us the more, to be surety for us that the act has not been in vain.

The true test of blessed giving lies in charity, or giving to those who are unable to return gifts. Sometimes this thought is completely omitted and we give only because we know the recipient will give a present to us or because we want to obligate him to give us something. It would be safe to say that very few fail to heed the reproof in the Saviour's words; "But when thou makest a feast, call the poor, the lame, the blind: And thou shalt be blessed; for they cannot recompense thee: for thou shalt be recompensed at the resurrection to the just."

Local Boy Makes Good

By Sid Irvine

Practice Work In Journalism Class.)

How often have Freed-Hardeman students heard this said in jest? Little do they realize that it is actually happening in their midst.

The scene of this is in the basement of the boy's dormitory and the boy is James Phifer of McMinnville, Tenn. Phifer came to the college with the determination to make something out of himself and is succeeding. Although only fifteen years old he has selected his life's vocation and has started working at it.

Folks back in McMinnville point with pride to James who came to Freed-Hardeman and made not only the best bootblack in the dormitory but also the best in town. Phifer, being president of his company, has cut the price of a shine from a dime to a nickel and also runs a delivery service, something that the other bootblacks in town do not have. He calls for and delivers the students' shoes to their rooms.

Phifer is very happy in his work and can be heard softly humming to himself as he applies the polish and then uses the shining rag.

OBITUARY

By Clarice Mingle

Practice Work In Journalism Class)

Joe Thomas Rivenbark, 67, well known resident of Bolivar, died at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon as the result of a cerebral hemorrhage.

Mr. Rivenbark's death followed his attempt to read the mind of one of the other inmates of the local institution.

The strain proved too great for his weakened brain and a hemorrhage ensued. Attendants found him dead a few minutes later.

Mr. Rivenbark has been a resident of Bolivar since his marriage to Miss Ruby Spratt of Henderson Tenn. He was the former Professor of Education and Modern Language at Freed-Hardeman College of the same city. In collaboration with Prof. W. C. Folwell, also of Freed-Hardeman, Mr. Rivenbark conducted a nationwide tour in 1921, in the interest of the art of hypnotism and mind reading.

Prof. Rivenbark was born in Coon Ridge, Ky., on Feb. 28, 1886 a son of Josephus and Maria Rivenbark. He attended the local school and later obtained his degree at Sap-Sucker Seminary, where he was graduated with honor. In 1919 he moved to Henderson where he accepted a position on the college faculty. He married Miss Spratt in 1927 and was removed to Bolivar during the same year.

Prof. Rivenbark was a member of the church of Holy Saints, of the Mystic Knights of the Sea, Secretary of the Psychological Manics Club, president of the Happy Hoodlums, and a member of the board of trustees of Goofus College.

He is survived by his wife and son, Irvin Thomas Rivenbark of St. Luis. Funeral services will be conducted at the local institution with the Happy Hoodlums in charge.

GIRLS

BY WILLIAM PAYNE

Girls in general are too much with us,

Girls in public often embarrass us, Why should we boys have to tolerate

The lengthy tongue of a female mate?

The problem is hard and will never be solved

For no other reason than too many involved.

There are a few exceptions far and in between,

But where they are, I've never seen.

Feelin' this way, one deserves lots of credit

To pick one girl out, and try to forget it;

But a poem like this should never be printed

'Cause every bit of written was surely intended.

Students Participate In Basketball

GIRL'S GAME

As a part of the Thanksgiving program arranged for the pleasure of the students, there was a double header basketball game at the gymnasium at seven o'clock Thursday night.

The girls' team were chosen by Ruby Helms and Opal Hubbard. Miss Helms' team, which had more of the veterans of last year emerged the victor by a score of 21 to 17, after a hard-fought and stirring game. The offensive stars of the conflict were Naomi Todd, last year all-conference forward, who scored 20 points for the winners, and Mary Hawkins of Selmer a newcomer at Freed-Hardeman, who scored 15 points for the losers Eileen Vernon, also a freshman, showed up well after being shifted to guard.

BOYS GAME

The boys' teams were selected by Kennedy and Mayfield. The boys' game was fast and furious, both sides showing a great deal of promising material, arguing well for another successful season. Mr. Mayfield's team was the winners by a score of 29 to 23.

There were no outstanding players as all took part in the scoring; Willie Hudson from Linden was the high point man of the evening with ten markers to his credit. He was closely followed by Captain Mayfield and Miskelly, both of whom were also on the winning team.

Sigma Rho News

Nov. 20, 1933 having ended the second month of school and the second term of office, the Sigma Rhos elected officers for the third term as follows: Lynn Browning, president; Leon Hardin, vice-president; Annette Haynes, Secretary. A program committee appointed by the new president consisted of Eileen Vernon, Clarice Mingle, and Eugene Scott.

The Philomathean and Sigma Rho Societies are trying out a new experiment which is expected to prove both beneficial and interesting. They are to entertain each other once a month alternately with a varied program. The Sigma Rhos began Dec. 3, with "The Big Broadcast," a mock radio program, as the leading feature.

Philomathean News

On Monday, November 27 the Philomathean society met and after the rendition of the usual program the following officers were elected: Frank Payne, president; Bruce Barton, vice-president; Laura Elizabeth Carmichael secretary.

In order that the vice president might have some definite work to do it was decided by the society that he should be chairman of the program committee.

Thursday morning, December 7, was the Philomathean society's regular time to entertain the F. H. C. student body by conducting the chapel program. After a short devotional service an interesting play was rendered. The play was entitled, "who's a coward?" The cast was Mable Stanfill, Don Hamilton, and Bill Reagan. The play was directed by Miss Kate Burkhead.

Letter to Santa Claus

Henderson, Tenn.
Freed-Hardeman College
Dec. 20, 1933

Dear Santa Claus,

Are you coming to see us at Freed-Hardeman this year? We hope you do because there are so many things we want.

We wish you would please bring Gross a new pipe-- one that he can manage. This one he has is strong enough to fight and it's about to get the best of him.

It would be nice if you could bring Frankie Payne a book on How to Make Love and some A B C blocks.

Arette Haynes wants a doll with curly hair--- we don't know why the curls.

Please bring Fannie some roller skates so she can get about better in the dining hall.

Austin Boyd wants a cigarette and it is rumored that Ethel Kimble wants a French harp.

And since she has been such a good little girl bring Mildred Tate a lock and chain so she can keep her various perfumes safe.

Also bring Mr. Folwell a magnifying glass, so he can find what he wants.

There are many more things we need but we just asked for the most important.

Love and kisses,
