

Societies And Organizations Busy With Spring Here

The various societies, clubs and organizations are busy, with the arrival of spring, and special meetings have lately been held for several interesting purposes. The Philos and Sigma Rho's and Preachers have selected their speakers for the oratorical contest during commencement. Too, Coach Stewart has planned a fine Field Day for Commencement week, with the different organizations competing in softball, track, tennis, shot-put, horseshoes, etc. There will be keen rivalry among the different student groups and high enthusiasm. The renewal of interest and activity is shown in their reports:

IMPORTANT! NEWS FLASH

Did you know—There is a new organization in our school? THE GREGGITES! You may have not heard much about us yet but we believe that you will before school is out. We met for organization with Brother Anderson acting as chairman. Much interest has been shown by the members and it is believed that it is going to be one of the most wide-awake groups in school.

A very interesting program was given at our second meeting, consisting of helpful talks by some of the members and then—the most important of all—a talk by Bro. Roland, who kindly consented to meet with us for that time and give us a few pointers on Business Life in General. He discussed some of those important attributes that will make us successful in the commercial world. The program was very beneficial to all who were present.

We all have great hopes and high ambitions and are desirous of learning more and more every day. Are there and others in school who have the same ideals? Are you interested in commercial work of any kind? If so, meet with us in the Commercial Room and see what an enjoyable time you will have. Also, don't forget that there is no other way in which you could spend those minutes more valuably.

SCIENCE CLUB

"A noiseless patient spider,
I marked where on a little promontory it stood isolated,
Mark'd how to explore the vacant vast surroundings,
It launch'd forth filament, filament,
filament, out of itself,
Ever unreeling them, ever tirelessly speeding them."

—Walt Whitman.

If you had been at the club meeting on March 9, you would have heard from Ike Finley many more interesting things about spiders, for instance what dangerous, uncertain matter a spider's friendship is, for he is as likely to be ten alive as accepted by the beloved.

Then, in another part of the program, our mind might have been freed from suspicion that you were "going nuts" when on occasion you acted unusually giddy and unlike yourself. You might be one of those persons whom Berta Harrison describes as having several different personalities.

Did you ever hear that astounding tale about the jointed snake which flies all to pieces, collects itself again and goes on its way? Did you know

Basketball In "Doc" Allen's Country

By William L. Allen

Those who have had the pleasure of making an unexpected trip home for a few days, know exactly how I felt on March 3, of this current school year. It was then that Coach Stewart, K. D. Lowrance and I visited my home in Jeffersonville, Indiana. Naturally I was glad to be at home and I believe that Coach Stewart and Mr. Lowrance also enjoyed their stay. There was only one bad part about our trip, and that was saying good-bye. Although the good-byes were hard to say, I am glad to be back in my regular routine.

As you have possibly heard, Indiana is noted for its basketball. Excepting politics, there is possibly nothing in the state of Indiana that so binds people together and creates enthusiasm as high school basketball. Practically every citizen is a local fan, backing his home team until it either wins or loses the state championship.

We made our trip in order to see the sectional tournament held at Jeffersonville. It might be added that the tournament was played in Jeffersonville's new field house, which will seat about 1,500. At most of the games it was filled. In Indiana the sectional tournament corresponds to the district tournament in Tennessee.

As was expected in this first go-round of affairs, there were several weaker teams. Thus there were produced some lopsided scores and a few uninteresting games. Even so, we saw some mighty fine ball clubs perform.

Naturally we could not visit all of the players in such a short time, but those with whom we conversed were told of the opportunities offered at F. H. C. and of the good that they would derive from this college. We visited five players in order to introduce Freed-Harthat it is just a tale? Bro. Endsley gave some good information on snakes in an illustrated lecture on March 23, in which he told of their habits, "temper," venomous or non-venomous natures, and even some of their sly tricks.

The regular election of officers resulted in the recent naming of Wayne Hemingway as president and Orvis Payne as secretary-treasurer.

Come to Science Club and learn while you are being entertained.

SIGMA RHO SOCIETY

"HEAR YE! HEAR YE! HEAR YE!
THE GREAT TRIAL OF GARVIN TOMS
He is accused of disturbing the peace of the boys' dormitory!"

These were the words of Judge Ross Spears on the afternoon of March 7. Words were slung to and fro among the accusers and defenders. Then the jury adjourned and returned. While the audience waited in suspense, the foreman of the jury rendered the decision:

"The prisoner is found GUILTY!"
On the same afternoon the officers

"Debators Round Out Successful Season"

The Freed-Hardeman debating team, coached by Bro. Vernon Anderson, has had great success in its encounters. The first debate was here in Henderson with Lambuth College, the decision being in favor of Freed-Hardeman. The second engagement was with Union University, there being no decision. In both of these debates, as well as in all the others, Freed-Hardeman's affirmative upheld the proposition: "Resolved, That the National Labor Relations Board Should be Empowered to Enforce Arbitration of All Industrial Disputes," the intercollegiate question for the year.

On its second trip, the team went to Memphis, where our negative met the West Tennessee State Teachers' College affirmative team. The first decision in favor of the negative side for Freed-Hardeman was at Lambuth College, with three members of Lambuth's faculty as judges. The next debate was held here in Henderson with Bethel College, our affirmative meeting their negative. Again the decision was in favor of Freed-Hardeman.

The only encounter in which the team lost the decision was in the discussion with Delta State, of Cleveland, Miss. The team's major trip of the season was to Nashville, where both teams debated with David Lipscomb College, and from there to Clarksville, where the negative met the affirmative team of the Austin Peay Normal School. Neither of these was a decision debate, but the Freed-Hardeman team had no particular difficulty in meeting the arguments of the opposition.

On Monday evening, March 14, after having been entertained in the home of Pres. N. B. Hardeman with the basketball boys, the debaters met the affirmative controversialists from West Tennessee State Teachers' in Room A of the Administration Building. At the close of this discussion Prof. J. R. Endsley offered criticisms and comments on the speakers, which suggestions were highly appreciated.

By their visits to other schools, the debaters have been able to carry the ideals of Freed-Hardeman College, at the same time gaining firsthand information regarding the status of other educational institutions. Through courteous entertainment of the debating visitors, this school has made favorable impressions upon them. The efficient work of Joe Johnson as correspondent for the club is worthy of special mention. Lasting impressions thus made, together with the decisions rendered in favor of the Freed-Hardeman debating team, prove conclusively that the season's forensic campaign has been of undetermined value to the school.

man College to them. I have known these boys for some time and hope to influence them to be with us next year, all of which would be for their benefit.

All of these boys are of fine character and would benefit the school as well as be benefited by it. I am personally interested in these boys and it is my sincere hope that they act wisely in choosing a college. They could not make a wiser nor better choice than Freed-Hardeman College. I say this upon my own free will and am proud that I can do so.

I surely hope that home of these boys will be able to visit us this quarter to see our system of schooling and how we do things "decently and in order."

Treasure-Chest Work Progressing Under Editor Jenkins

"DID YOU KNOW?"

That the rose garden has one hundred new plants to make the ocean of May bloom all the fuller? These were set out a few weeks ago on the garden plot by boys doing government work.

That the tennis courts are gradually gaining playing appearance by the removal of grass, rolling down of dirt, and stationing of posts? The weapons of reconstruction are being wielded by able hands of N. Y. A. employ.

That surveys are being taken, grouped, and filed daily on various phases of student life and possibilities? A few government - employed students give their time to this.

These are just a few of the things the N. Y. A. group has been doing recently. Other students are engaged in regular duties; some assisting at the Farm Bureau Office, others recording grades in our offices, doing student grading, typing special projects, keeping the library, coaching special classes, assisting in the primary department, and other like endeavors.

It may be of interest, also to know that a file is kept of these students with information as to their plans for work in life and, accordingly, tasks are assigned in the field that will give them the most training and experience possible for their desired line.

Twenty-three boys and girls in F. H. C. are thus employed, keeping records of hours worked and reporting once a month to the government.

INFORMATION WANTED

Where can a man buy a cap for his knee? Or a key for the lock of his hair? Can his eyes be called an Academy, because there are pupils there?

In the crown of his head, what gems are to be found? Who crosses the bridge of his nose? Can he use, when building the roof of his house, the nails on the end of his toes?

Can he sit in the shade of the palm of his hand, or beat on the drum of his ear? Can the calf of his leg eat the corn on his toes? But why not grow corn on the ear?

Can the crook of his elbow be sent to jail? If so, what did he take? How does he sharpen his shoulder blades? And who eats the stummy cake?—Contributed.

A certain county had the following legend printed on its school teacher salary receipt forms:

"Your salary is your personal business, and should not be disclosed to any one."

The new teacher in signing the receipt added: "I won't mention it to anybody. I'm just as much ashamed of it as you are."

"Daddy," said the small boy, "What do they mean by college-bred? Is it different from any other kind of bread?"

"My son," said the father, "It is a four years' loaf."

The Treasure Chest is just about to be filled. The members of the Treasure Chest Staff were selected by a school-wide vote, and are as follows:

Editor-in-chief Clarence Jenkins
Associate Editors Mildred Haskins
Ava Nelle Vernon
Business Manager Edward Reeves
Asso. Bus. Mgrs. Warden Novak
James Dempster
Snapshot Editor William Allen
Humor Editor Fred Brigrance
Faculty Advisor Mrs. W. B. Powers

The cover of the annual is to be very attractively designed in maroon and white, our college colors. The publication this year will be printed on an excellent grade of paper and by expert publishers.

Included in our Treasure Chest will be the pictures of the faculty, the classes, the various clubs and organizations.

There will be group pictures of the Philomathean, Sigma Rho, and Preachers' Societies, the Science Club, the Debaters, Chorus Club, Music Class, Primary Department, Texas - Oklahoma Club, Florida Club, Basketball Team and others. There will be also, a feature section picturing your best looking boy and girl, most popular boy and girl, and most intelligent boy and girl. For this section, a primary vote was held recently in chapel and the three or four students who received the highest number of votes in each phase of the contest were determined, their pictures and names posted in the College bulletin board and a second balloting then determined the final winners. The results of this ballot will be shrouded in deep mystery until the appearance of the annual, but the winners will be chosen from the following groups:

Handsome Boy—Elmore Price, Doc Allen, Robert Jones.

Prettiest Girl—Rachel Williams, Sarah Elizabeth Foy, Doris Hardeman.

Most Popular Boy—Tillman Hall, Doc Allen, Elmore Price.

Most Popular Girl—Orvis Payne, Martha Henry, Mildred Haskins.

Most Intelligent Boy—Clarence Bufington, Edward Reeves, Clarence Jenkins.

Most Intelligent Girl—Orvis Payne, Janie Sue Scott, Mildred Haskins.

It is intended to make our annual excel its predecessors and with the present interest and cooperation of the whole school, the only possible result is a real Treasure Chest.

"My ideal boy is modest. Schools do something to boys that I do not like. It takes a boy coming into my employ fully two or three years to get over the feeling that he is smarter than anybody in the plant. I do want him confident. But all middle-aged men dislike boys who feel they just naturally know it all. My ideal boy makes friends readily. But he does his own thinking and can have a good time by himself. Any boy who has to have others around him every minute is a boy who doesn't read, doesn't think and plan."

BE YOURSELF

Don't try to imitate somebody else. Be yourself. Remember when you try to assume the likeness of someone you admire that you can never be as much like him as he is himself.

You have recognized the tendency now and then in others to copy someone they admire very much. You can hear people say "She's imitating Mary Smith."

No two people in the world are alike. Many people look alike. There are lots of people who have dimples or curly hair or twinkling eyes, but there's only one you. The real you has a much more magnetic personality than an imitation of someone else. Why don't you stop pretending to be someone else and develop your own good points?

They tell us that Cleopatra's nose wasn't just as it should have been, but instead of copying the women of her court, she was just herself, and it was she that Anthony and Caesar remembered.

Even our skins are chemically different. A perfume that is delightful on one person may not suit another at all. This applies to your mannerisms, voice and gestures. You can not adopt someone else's habits and wear them. They won't fit. Cultivate your own and make them so attractive that other people will want to be like you—until they learn that it's better for them to be themselves.—J. L.

THE FINISHING TOUCHES

A great thing in life is the finishing of a task once started. Surely anything that is worth starting is worth finishing. That Applies to us engaged in scholastic attempts. We have spent much of our time working up into a position to deliver the final exertion and end in a blaze of glory or end as a dismal failure. "Better is the end of a thing than the beginning," is a fine principle to follow in school. Even though we may have made a bad start, we may finish up in fine style if we devote the short remaining time to hard work. Possibly a trite comparison, but one in which the resemblance is easily seen is that of a horse race. The winning horse is rarely ever the one who takes the initial lead, but is the one who possesses the necessary punch in the home stretch. The person who possesses the stamina to be near the front all along with enough reserve for the finish is the one who will succeed, be it in school or any other realm.

All cross-country racing teams have one or more men whose sole duty is to furnish a fast start. After they have thrown a scare into their opponents they fade out and drop back so that the steady men can finish. There are always plenty who will furnish the flashy starts but let us watch closely and see who will provide a good finish.—F. B.

The Sunflower turns its head continually toward the sun for its life-giving rays. The difference in a good moral man and a Christian is that the moral man is absorbing reflected light while the Christian is always turned to Christ and absorbing directly the rays of the Sun of Righteousness. Be a good sunflower.

DEDICATED TO J. T. R.

'Tis sweet to court
But, oh, how bitter
To court a gal
And then not git her.

Turn on, turn on,
Oh, time in thy flight,
And make the bell ring
Before I recite.

SPORT CHATTER

By Jim Ronsiek

With eyes forward Freed-Hardeman faces spring with the urge to get out and engage in outdoor sports. However on a basketball season filled with thrills it is permissible, we hope, to look back on record-breaking stunts. We swelled with pride as each new triumph came to pass and now that all is over we can deflate our ego.

Early in the season Freed-Hardeman gained recognition by showing Jim Murdough as the villain in a 78 scene drama with Bethel as the victim. This broke the existing world record and gained fame for Jim and the team in newspapers, oddity columns, and over the air waves. Jim even got an offer of marriage for his sharpshooting.

After this introduction, the boys proceeded to bowl over all opposition. Astounding scores were reported, with Murdough and Price usually accounting for the enormous totals. Several strong independent teams were played and with few exceptions the story was the same.

As a team, Freed-Hardeman claimed the team's scoring record with their 115-30 victory over Bethel but this was not enough and the boys decided to better it at Draughton's expense—130-48. Jim again broke the former record, accounting for 51 points. Price tried his luck at high scoring and came out with 38.

Too much playing slowed the game up considerably and they dropped a close game to Union University, but when they rested and regained their former condition they showed their superiority in winning a return game by a decisive margin.

The tournament was rather disappointing as Freed-Hardeman drove up to the finals by decisive wins over Draughton's and David Lipscomb only to drop the final to Sunflower, whom they had previously beaten twice. Price and Jones were named on the all-star team. Finis was thus written to a very successful season.

The soft-ball grounds have been the scene of some amateur but exciting games among the students recently. Games between the two societies have had the spotlight with our baseball stars, Price, Murdough and Hall, leading the leagues. The weaker (?) sex have also been complaining of sore arms due to strenuous exertions at several games they have had.

The tennis moguls have organized and drawn up their regulations for a great spring season on the excellent courts. Meanwhile table-tennis flourishes in Paul Grey Hall basement, with a tournament with the local High School enthusiasts a probability.

TOPICS IN BRIEF

Paul gloried in the fact that he had a thorn in his flesh after he found that he was strongest in Christ when he was weakest in the flesh. Remembering this, even in our darkest hour we may see and feel the light of His love.

Your burden is heavy in proportion to your strength. A strong man can do much more than a weak man. A man can lift much more than a boy. Regardless of the burden a Christian can bear it, he need only go to the true source of strength. God has promised that none of us shall be tempted above what we are able to bear. There is bountiful strength in Jesus to help us over the rough roads of life.

Are you ashamed of the church? No. This shame can be shown in more ways than by mere acknowledgement of it. Many are ashamed of the Church of Christ, who would not actually admit it. This may be manifested in several different ways; by concealment, by avoiding conversations of a religious nature, and even by just keeping silent when a profitable word could be spoken. Now ask the question again, are you ashamed? If you are, what are you going to do about it?

"BELIEF OF THE TRUTH"

By GARVIN TOMS

Surely a most excellent expression of appreciation is set forth in these words of the Apostle Paul: "But we are bound to give thanks to God always for you, brethren beloved of the Lord, for that God chose you from the beginning unto salvation in sanctification of the Spirit and belief of the truth." (II Thes. 2:13).

To those who are familiar with the Sacred Writings the truth is clearly evident that one who comes to God must believe that He is and that He is a rewarder of those that diligently seek Him. With this belief in the one true and living God there must also be a disposition to give heed to His revealed will in cheerful, willing, and submissive obedience. In coming to God there is not only the necessity of accepting the truth—correctly defined as that Word by which we are sanctified—but also the fact that man's eternal welfare depends upon his seeking God, if haply he might feel after Him and find Him in the implanted Word, though He be not far from each one of us. Considering man therefore to be, by his very nature, one who looks up to, and endeavors to lay hold upon, a Being in whom he trusts as having superhuman wisdom and power, it is most proper that he be directed to the ways of the true God, which in substance means that he be taught only those principles which benefit the sound doctrine.

If one is seeking after a system of faith in which his devotion may find complex expression in zeal that should characterize a proponent of religion, should he not place his confidence in that truth, which is right and cannot be wrong?

It is pitiable indeed to see millions of people working night and day to spread doctrines contrary to the Word of God, spending their money for that which is not bread and their labor for that which does not satisfy. As a matter of fact, a person might bestow all his goods to feed the poor and give his body to be burned without expressing genuine love for, and belief in, God by keeping His Commandments, and his good works will profit him nothing. So then the conclusion follows that, if the human family is going to believe any doctrine, wisdom instructs that the truth is all that is effectually profitable for unrelenting search.

This is made more evident from the fact that those who are well pleasing to God have been chosen from the beginning to salvation in sanctification of the Spirit and belief of the truth. To this salvation and to the obtaining of the glory of the Lord Jesus Christ is mankind called by the Gospel proclaimed to all nations for the obedience of faith. Surely such a reward merits the giving up of all that would be detrimental to spiritual success, for the soul is worth more than all the world, especially if it is your soul.

By believing that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of the living God, the seeker for truth has all to gain and nothing to lose. There is no doubt but that in turning from sin one is far better off in this world and will be in that which is to come. Proving his belief, the penitent believer, when he confesses Jesus as Lord, takes his place of honor with all the ancient worthies who died rather than deny their faithful Friend. The will of God is that after the acknowledgement of allegiance to His Son the one thus drawn to Him to be buried in baptism with his crucified Savior and be raised a new creature with the resurrected Christ. Such an acceptance of Him who is the Way, the Truth and the Life implies a disbelief in error and an opposition to all that to it pertains.

PREACHERGRAPHS

Blaine Freeman preached for the Church in Powderly, Ky., the first Sunday in March, Summertown, Tenn., the second Sunday and Ripley, Miss., the third Sunday. We are happy to have Bro. Freeman with us and his coming has meant another gospel preacher to our ever-increasing list of ministers in school.

Leonard Tyler preached for the Church in the following places during the past month: Lyle, Tenn., and Bon Aqua, Tenn.

Howard McTee preached for the congregation in Bogota, Tenn., the first Sunday in this month.

Clarence Jenkins continues his good work with the Churches in Pocahontas and Bolivar, Tenn. He has been with the Church in Clarksville, Miss., on the third Sunday of the last two months.

E. G. Couch, while visiting home in Little Rock, Ark., this month, preached for the Northside congregation.

Bro. Houser is doing good work with the Church in Lone Oak, Kirksey and Milburne, Ky. He goes to Henry, Tenn. on each fourth Sunday.

Austin Sibert preached in Marmaduke, Ark., the first Sunday in month. Bro. Sibert has been working with the congregation in Cairo, Tenn., the second and fourth Sundays.

Flavil Nichols went to Metropolis, Ill., the first of this month for his first appointment there. The last part of each month, Bro. Nichols preaches in Jacinto, and Christian Chapel, Miss.

Homer Daniels preached at Broadmore

CHORUS DOINGS

The Chorus Club has been meeting regularly twice a week under the direction of Mrs. Hardeman and Bro. Spears. Practice was postponed while Mrs. Hardeman was with Bro. Hardeman in Texas, but since her return singing is picking up again.

The club is progressing very rapidly now and will be ready for a public exhibition in the near future. We have the harmony and also the volume but there is always room for improvement in any undertaking in life. One has nothing to lose and everything to gain in this very pleasant activity.

and Miston, Tenn., on the fourth Sunday of February.

Billy Guyman has preached at the following places this month: Refuge, McNairy, and Estes, Tenn.

Joe W. Crumley, Jr., continues his work with the congregations in Dongolo, Berea and Mt. Pleasant, Ill.

Bro. Ross Embry has left us to labor with the Clement Street Congregation in Paducah, Ky. He and Sister Embry have now been with this Church for two years. We will miss Bro. Embry greatly and trust that some time we will have him back in Freed-Hardeman to continue study with us.

Bro. Lyle Bonner is spending the month of April with the National Avenue Church in Springfield, Mo.

KEY HOLE GOSSIP

"Peep, peep," said the little chick. "Peep, peep," returned a voice from the keyhole. "I see YOU and YOU and YOU and it shall be SKYROCKETED afar."

Looking over the general situation it seems that there was a depression in the world of romance causing many peculiar happenings about three weeks ago. Annabelle and John distinctly not together—Janie appearing teary eyed and developing an aptitude for space gazing—Otha and Leonard conspicuous by their separation—Mary and Flavil with that intent "This-is-the-end look." We are glad to report that the crisis seems to have passed and business is gradually (?) returning to normal.

What that dauber of mud and slinger of pebbles against a certain corner of Oakland Home an hallucination resulting from a "Lights Out" command or was it real? How about it, Wanda and Cookie?

If the Political Science Class is not satisfied with its present text, it might be exchanged for the Harris revised version.

Another advantage of knowing everyone in school is that no sign "That way to the office" is necessary. Even Roach and Terry can tell the way!

To some, the drug store blues may mean the last of a "coc" but oh, what a plaintive melody to Ed and Elizabeth. A former F. H. C. student reminisces:

"Before I heard the doctors tell
The danger of a kiss,
I had considered kissing you
The nearest thing to bliss
But now I know biology
I sit and sigh and moan—
Six million mad bacteria—
I thought we were alone!"
What ever made you think it, John Bruun?

We hear that Grady Rogers has recently been looking the home situation over in Camden.

"You get a line and I'll get a pole, Honey

You get a line and I'll get a pole, Baby—" Hello, Cookie and Demp.

Another pastime: Scaring up rabbits on the football field.

We're always glad to welcome former students back, aren't we, Dillahunty?

It is a well known fact that several trips made over a road seemingly lessens the distance. For instance, Siburt will tell you it is a mere step to Recto, Ark.

Why and by whom was clothes brush needed on a recent Sunday night?

Who is the young lady member of the Fat Family?

Heinz with his '57 varieties has nothing on Jimmie Bays—blonds, brindles, brownettes and brunettes come and go in varied procession.

What student has nerve enough to say to the math teacher, "You don't have any sense?" (cents) If you look less guilty, Beanie, no one will suspect.

Some people talk with Tom, Dick, and Harry, but according to a recent report, Flavil Nichols talks with et cetera. Now, who is et cetera?

Life's little ironies: While the whiz 3:30 algebra class pegs away, the chorus sings again and again, "You need sympathy!"

Is Mrs. Travis trying to help someone in the bell industry? Surely so, or she would deal with them less frequently and more gently.

Was the picture of the three athletes a masterpiece and worth a fight, Martha Flatt?

WE WONDER WHY—

Kathleen likes green cars?

Frances is so happy here of late?

John and Annabelle aren't seen together so much?

Prater likes first floor better than second?

Since the Gospel plan of salvation is the truth, it is worthy of our most serious consideration. We should believe its truthfulness with all our heart, confronting our manner of life to that noble and lofty ideal found only in our perfect Example.

Terry seemed lost last week end?

Irene Haddock dropped Algebra?

Ed felt so blue last Friday, Saturday and Sunday?

Chicken rates midnight telephone calls from Nashville?"

So far it seems to be a draw between Jeffery and Austin. The prize is—Warren.

"Yee! Hoo! What are you doing, Walley?"

"Oh, just Mingling around." Has any other couple "fallen" for each other more simultaneously? To onlookers it seems as if the mutual attraction were sponsored by the law of gravity.

Spoken English is a worthwhile subject. It even makes one feel like challenging a well known talker for a Sunday night chat in Oakland Home, doesn't it, Alford Reeves?

Speaking of the old apple tree in the orchard—Wouldn't it be a delightful place to lunch?

LAUGHS

(Not Jokes but Realities)

Webster says to laugh means "to show mirth, satisfaction, or derision by an expression of the face and explosive or chuckling sounds from the throat." Freed-Hardeman students may think of other adjectives to describe the sound produced as a result of happy moments. There are quiet laughs, forced, disinterested laughs, half-hearted attempt but who doubts the whole heartedness of Orvis Payne's contribution as it glides along as rhythmically as the tumbling tumbleweed? Or who, hearing Clarence Buffington's distinctly individual, indescribable expression of mirth, can withhold a smile? Though, if recorded, it would be in a different key and tempo. Another cheer producer among the fair sex is Martha Flatt. At the other end of the scale, heard less frequently, but well worth provoking is the "basso profundo" laughter of Jimmie Bays.

Other shining lights in the F. H. Glee department are: Price, Virginia Anderson, Johnny Greenway, J. B. Watson and Clarence Jenkins. In order to promote happiness and a general sense of well being, may this glee club lead us in a gay round of cheerfulness for "Laugh and the world laughs with you" is as true today as ever.

The High Priest of the Jews could marry only a virgin. Our High Priest is Christ, he is taking to wife the church. As part of that church are you making it certain that YOU remain chaste and holy?

SOCIETIES AND ORGANIZATIONS BUSY WITH SPRING HERE

were elected for the ensuing month:

President—Leonard Tyler
First Vice-Pres.—Mildred Haskins
Second Vice-Pres.—E. G. Couch
Sec. & Treas.—Juana Travillion
Reporter—Juanita Russell
Sgt. at Arms—Mrs. Spears.

On the seventeenth of March the Sigma Rho's gave an Irish program for chapel. The mixed chorus, all "decked out" in green, sang "My Wild Irish Rose" and "Where The River Shannon Flows." E. G. Couch gave us the life history of St. Patrick. This was followed by "Tumble-Down Shack In Athlone," sung by Brother Spears with Dennis Short at the piano. The concluding number was by the chorus—"Peggy O'Neal" and "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling."

When March 14 rolled around, the Sigma Rho and Philomathean Societies met on the field of battle in full paraphernalia, protectors, ball bats, mits and gloves. The Sigma Rho's were beaten but their heads went not down in defeat.

The following Monday, March 21, brought two more very interesting games: Philo and Sigma Rho girls—Philo and Sigma Rho boys. THE TABLES WERE TURNED!

Both the girls and boys of the Sigma Rho's are now the "VICTORS OF FREED-HARDEMAN."

HOMEMAKERS' CLUB

Progressiveness sounds the keynote of the "Home Ec-ers' club, which is a relatively new organization in the college. Each member takes her part enthusiastically and endeavors for the club to remain a success.

At a recent meeting a talk was given by Orvis Payne on Good Manners—Cleanliness—the way to a successful home (she knows!). Three other interesting talks were featured: Art of Entertainment, by Celia Reid; Duties of a Waitress, by Edith Smith; Art of Entertainment and Arrangement of the Dining Room by Juana Travillion.

After the regular program the following new officers were elected: President, Juana Travillion; Secretary, Inez Benson; Reporter, Ava Nell Vernon; Elizabeth Martin was appointed Chairman of the Program Committee.

The next program was an experiment in candy making, a combination of candy and exchange of ideas related to that field of cookery.—Inez Benson, Reporter.

JUST FOR FUN

McTee—Why don't you like girls?

Allen—They're too biased.

McTee—Biased?

Allen—Yes, it's bias this and bias that until I'm broke.

A. Reeves—So you graduated from a barber college. What is your college yell?

Tillie—Cut his lip, cut his jaw, leave his face, raw, raw, raw!

Bucy—Won't you have a fork?

Warder—Not on your life! I never use these things; they leak so bad they ain't no use.

Coach—What do you mean by saying that Benedict Arnold was a janitor?

Red—The book says that after his exile he spent the rest of his life in abasement.

Bro Endsley — Charles, what does HNO3 signify?

Charles—Well, Ah, Er-r-I've got it right on the tip of my tongue.

Bro. E.—Well, you'd better get it off. It's nitric acid.

The Story of Evangeline in Twenty-Six Words

She saw him,
She liked him,
She met him,
She loved him,
She missed him,
She followed him,
She found him,
She kissed him—
He died.

CONFESSION

"Getting out this paper is no picnic. If we print jokes, people say we are silly,

If we don't, they say we are too serious.

If we clip things from other magazines—

We are too lazy to write them ourselves,

If we don't we are too fond of our own stuff.

If we don't print contributions—

We don't appreciate true genius.

If we do print them, the paper is filled with junk,

If we make a change in the other makeup—

We are too critical.

If we don't, we are asleep.

Now like as not some one will say

We swiped this—WE DID!

This paper is a great invention—

The school gets all the fame,

The printer all the money,

And the staff all the blame.

We always laugh at the teachers jokes,

No matter what they be

Not because they are funny, no,

But it's plum good policy.

Teacher—What is a comet?

Wayne—A star with a tail.

Teacher—Very good, name one.

Wayne—Mickey Mouse.
