FREED-HARDEMAN COLLEGE, HENDERSON, TENNESSEE JANUARY, 1946

No. 4

Three Major Leaders Hindered By Illness

For the first time in the last ten Januarys, serious sickness has affected the Special Courses. Brethren N. B. Hardeman, H. Leo Boles, and John T. Lewis are the patients.

On New Year's Day, Brother Hardeman had a very severe chill while at the College. It was followed by high fever and a close brush to pneumonia. He was confined to bed for eleven days. We are hoping the second week of the courses finds him able to be back in school, where his absence is keenly felt.

Brother Boles thought until the day before the courses opened that he would be able to take his regular teaching position of two lecture periods a day. But on that date he was forced to go to bed by a seriously affected leg. A letter from him came the latter part of last week. It read in part:

"Most of all I regret not being with you. I want you (Bro. Hardeman) to express to the group my great disappointment in not being able to come. I have been preaching a little more than 42 years, and this is the first time that I have had to cancel an engagement for a meeting or lectures. You must know that it is a sore disappointment to me. Express my love to all and say that I am praying that the greatest good may be accomplished. I am dictating this letter in bed."

"My trouble is a swollen limb caused by a blocking of the large vein in the left leg . . . I have been examined by five doctors but they seem not to find the trouble."

Also, Brother Hardeman had a letter from the doctor attending Brother Lewis, saying he was unable to come. His lecture date, the evening of January 11 was filled by Brother Jim Tolle of Fayette, Alabama.

BOOK BAZAAR SPECIAL FEATURE OF LECTURES

Nothing attracts more attention during the current lecture courses than the "book bazaar" in the upstairs hall just outside the auditorium. Wesley Jones, with Joe McKissick assisting, represents the Gospel Advocate Company of Nashville. Joe is buying this agency immediately after the special courses.

Reeder Oldham is the agent for North Alabama Bible Store, Athens, Alabama. If books are "medicine for the soul," this sale is the curative for many religious maladies.

MAJOR LAMAR SELLERS

Late on the afternoon of Christmas Eve, Major Lamar Sellers, of Greenwood, Miss., was killed in an automobile crash between Clarksdale and Greenwood. He had recently returned from the Army, having served with distinction in both World Wars. In civilian life he had made a considerable success as a cotton buyer.

Lamar Sellers, and his brother, Hamilton, were students with us in 1914-15, when F. H. C. was known as National Teachers' Normal and Business College.

Five Visitors Conduct Chapel In First Week

A quintet of the Special Course visitors were our chapel speakers on the 9th, 10th, 11th and 12th of January. The first of these was Bro. O. S. Lanham, now of Fayetteville, Tenn., and alumnus of '41. His subject was the question "Whose Servants Are We?" He brought out the fact that service is held up as an ideal in the Scriptures. He answered his question, "Whose servants should we be?" by answering "Not man's," nor should we be "wicked and slothful," nor "unprofitable" but "good and faithful," and "watchful." The query, "Why give service to Him?" was answered, "Because he bought us." "Because he promises a reward" and "Because it is the only way we can be in His presence now." Brother Lanham concluded by answering his final question, "How to become His servants?"

On the 10th of January, Bro. O. C. Lambert, now of Mobile, spoke to the assembly on "How Little Is Man." His beginning illustration was President Franklin D. Roosevelt, once probably the most popular man on earth, now on the same plane with the millions of others who have lived and died—a mere "pebble in the universe." A story was cited from Mark Twain, of an applicant at the Pearly Gates. The angels in charge had never heard of him, of his state, nation, even the world itself. Finally one of the gatekeepers remarked, "The world must be that little thing we've always called the wart." Bro. Lambert's most telling remark was "The only way to cripple a fellow so he can't do anything is to cripple his head," his attitude. "Don't despise little things." He referred to a colored brother as having risen from a humble beginning, with small indication that he would live to become a great gospel preacher and baptize 25,000 people.

Bro. Paul Tucker, of Natchez, Miss., who married a Freed-Hardeman alumna (Edith Upton, '39) was the Friday-morning speaker of the week. His theme was Paul's admonitions to Timothy. "We can't realize how much encouragement and help are derived from the advice and letters of old preachers to young ones." He referred to a letter to himself from Bro. I. B. Bradley (who was present) as a case in point. Bro. Tucker also enlarged upon Paul's advice, "Let no man despise thy youth," by insisting that we be examples.

Alumnus Kenneth Franklin '42, now of Lancaster, Ohio, addressed the chapel on the 12th. His subject was, "Make straight paths for your feet." He related an incident that happened when he and Alumnus Glenn Sheumaker were preaching in Miami a few years ago. They preached, in the courtroom, while the jury was in private session, to a man on trial for his life, and converted him. The verdict was "guilty, with recommendation for mercy," so he was sentenced to life imprisonment. Then our two "boys" baptized him in a bathtub in the jail.

The speaker exhorted us to be "straight" financially, materially (continued on page two)

Preachers, Guests, Here From Twenty-two States

BONNIE BETH BYLER TO MARRY SOON

Early this month appeared announcement of the engagement of Bonnie Beth Byler of Lepanto, Arkansas, to Richard Kitchens Burke, another Arkansan, and until recently an officer in the Naval Air Corps. Bonnie Beth, an alumna of 1939, was a member of both the Treasure Chest and Sky Rocket staffs, was chosen "Most Beautiful" by the students, and won the Faculty Scholarship Medal at Commencement. She continued her education at the University of Arkansas and was graduated with many honors in June, 1941. In January, 1943, she had the signal honor of being chosen "Maid of Cotton" in a competition conducted by the Memphis Press-Scimitar, and in the ensuing months toured the nation as the emissary of the cotton producers and industries. She and her groom will go, after their wedding the last of January, to the University of Arkansas, where she will do graduate work and he will resume his law course, interrupted by the war.

MANY ALUMNI ATTEND COURSES

A fine group of our own boys have come to attend the current Special Courses. It is a great pleasure to have them return, and to know of the fine work they are doing in their congregations.

Brother Pedro Rivas '32, Brother Stoy Pate '31, and Brother George DeHoff '39, are three alumni who have appeared on the program scheduled, all giving splendid account of themselves. Brother Rivas in his account of the Mexican work, Brother Pate is a brilliant discussion of the subject, "What Think Ye of Christ?" on the evening of January 10, and Brother De Hoff in a daily lecture on "Alleged Contradictions of the Bible."

Other alumni welcomed back during the first week are: Shirley Bedwell '45, Wellington, Kans.; Erskine Belk '44, Owensboro, Ky.; T. Billingsley '45, Memphis; Paul Brock '45, Milan, Tenn.; Charles Brown '44, Cincinnati; C. C. Burns '27, Huntsville, Ala.; A. C. Carpenter '40, Manchester, Ga.; Rufus R. Clifford, '39, Old Hickory, Tenn.; Richard Curry '42 (and Barbara Harrison Curry '43), Salem, Ind.; J. F. Doggett '37, Port Arthur, Tex.; I. A. Douthitt '19, Dickson, Tenn.; A. C. Dreads '31, LaGrange, Ga.; Kenneth Franklin '42, Lancaster, Ohio; W. B. Freeman '41 (and Christine Howell Freeman), Clinton, Tenn.; John R. Fulmer '39, Jal, New Mex.; J. E. Green '31, Martin, Tenn.; W. T. Hamilton '43, Bowie, Tex.; Bill Hammon '45, Chickamauga, Ga.; Albert Holland '27, Memphis; Charles Holt '45, Jackson, Miss.; B. G. Hope '28, Lawrenceburg, Tenn.; Charles Houser '39, Fulton, Ky.; Maurice Howell '35, Corinth, Miss.; A. H. Kennamer '41, Trion, Ga.; O. S. Lanham '41, Fayetteville, Tenn.; C. A. Lucas '41, Flomaton, Ala.; J. T. Marlin '40, Shawnee, Okla.; L. S. Maynard, '45, Jonesboro, Ark.; Paul (Continued on page 2)

Also Washington, D. C., Canada and Mexico

The second Tuesday of the January Courses showed a registration of one hundred ninety-seven visitors. The great majority are preachers, and they, together with around one hundred preacher-students here in regular attendance, make a very imposing assembly. Neither of these groups takes into account the non-preaching section of the students and the numerous brethren and friends from nearby towns who drive in for the night lectures. It is easy to see why our auditorium has been packed each evening.

Twenty-two states, Washington, D. C., Mexico and Canada are the homes of our preachers currently attending. The number of visitors and congregations represented will probably double during this second week, if the session runs parallel with its predecessors. The twenty-two states are: Tennessee, Oklahoma, Kansas, Kentucky, Texas, Indiana, Alabama, Georgia, Arkansas, Ohio, New Mexico, Florida, Mississippi, Missouri, West Virginia, Louisiana, California, Virginia, Illinois, Oregon, Michigan, and Pennsylvania.

A great many of our guests have been with us before. Brother Gus Nichols, of Jasper, Ala., has one of the records, with no absences since these courses became annual in 1937; Brother I. B. Bradley, of Dickson, Tenn., has appeared on our programs, as have Brother Frank Puckett, of Florence, Ala., Brother I. D. Janney, of St. Albans, West Va., Brother C. E. McGaughey, of Washington, Brother Allen Phy, of McMinnville, Tenn., and Brother G. K. Wallace, of Wichita, Kansas.

Brother Gilbert Copeland, of Nashville, Ark., is no newcomer, nor are Brother George N. Doom, of Tusculumbia, Ala.; Brother M. V. Freeman, of Florence, Ala.; Brother and Sister A. C. Grimes, of Muskogee, Okla.; Brother W. M. Grooms (and Sister Grooms), of Camden, Ark.; Brethren James (continued on page four)

J. R. ENDSLEY RECEIVES HONORS

We congratulate Brother J. R. Endsley on his recently being elected a member of the American Association for the Advancement of Science. This association with its affiliated organizations is the largest of its kind in the world.

In addition to this he is a member of the Tennessee Academy of Science, Tennessee Ornithological Society, National Association of Biology Teachers, Associate Member Division of Chemical Society, and the Southern Association of Science and Industry.

At the present Brother Endsley is conducting a research on Resurrection Fern (Polypodium polypodioides) in this area and so far has found this particular species on sixteen trees in Henderson.

During the holidays Brother Endsley received four ferns from Yakutat, Alaska, sent by Corporal Roy E. Wilson, '40, U. S. Army Weather Service.

Honor Where Due

Too long has the printed praise of Brother Rivenbark been overdue. He is one of the unsung heroes, but his work demands especial attention in this year when everything is hard to get and hard to do. For at least ten years, Brother Rivenbark has been in charge of lodgings and placements for college pupils and visitors who do not stay in our dormitories. He grew into this position and has worked so smoothly and unobtrusively that we have scarcely noticed the splendid job he has done.

Now, when there are at least two demands for every item of supply, Brother Rivenbark has done what looked impossible—found a bed and a roof for every visitor to our January courses. It has involved infinite patience, a great deal of time in inquiring and answering, a considerable tact in securing places where there seemingly were none, and the need of being on the job at all hours of day and night. We hereby acknowledge an accomplishment.

Similar recognition is due to "Miss Mary" (Mrs. Roy Travis), matron of our cafeteria. She, too, does the impossible, finding the supplies to keep us fed, and turning out good food, on time, no matter what the difficulties. She "takes hold" anywhere, her courage and energy are endless. When the cooks fail to come, she pitches in; when waitresses and servers are lacking, there she works. Only people who are responsible for feeding large groups, three times a day, day in and day out, under the shortages and bottlenecks that plague the food situation, can appreciate her achievements. She is the marvel of all those who understand the present circumstances.

Good Report of All Men

During the course of the year Freed-Hardeman College receives many visitors and especially during this time of special courses there are visitors from nearly every place on the American continent. These visitors will carry home some impression of this school and an impression of each student. It is up to us, each individual student, as to what that impression shall be.

Shall they take back an impression to pass on to others, of a group of thoughtless, rude pupils rushing about their daily tasks, heedless of those about them, or will it be one of courteous, friendly students going about in a well-ordered way, making those around them happy?

It should be realized that Freed-Hardeman College is not a group of buildings, but the heart of the college is the people who compose it. THEIR character and reputation and ITS are synonymous. Knowing this, let us strive, as the Bible commands, to have a good report of all men.

Friendship

Friendship! mysterious cement of the soul,
Sweet'ner of life, and soldier of society.

These words, by Blair, describe the atmosphere at the Special Lecture courses at Freed-Hardeman College this year. If those attending received nothing from the teachings of the instructors, the fellowship of the ministers from each section of the country would be inspiring. Between lectures and during the meals in the cafeteria, a spirit of friendliness prevails. At the round-table discussions, in a friendly manner, the visiting ministers discuss controversial issues.

Friendliness furthers understanding, and understanding promotes unity throughout the brotherhood.

HOLIDAY HAPPENINGS

For some time, the Folwells had been looking forward to a busy Christmas. They were to leave school Wednesday, December 19, and travel to Anniston, Alabama, where Bro. Folwell was to perform the marriage ceremony for Myra Barton. From there, they were to drive to Chattanooga to pick up Mrs. Folwell's sister and family, who were to accompany them to West Virginia for the 55th wedding anniversary of Mrs. Folwell's mother and father.

However, Bro. Folwell was taken to Webb-Williamson Hospital Tuesday Morning and remained until Friday evening. Mrs. Folwell was the only member of her family not present at the anniversary celebration.

Jack Crone took his physical examination for the service, and made A, then went on to Dallas to score another A!

Millie Lambert had to go clear to Cleveland to get back to Akron.

If you believe there's not trouble in riding public transportation, just ask "Flit" Myers, Martha Barton, Paul McGaughey, Dot McCord, Jeannette and June Hawks, Mary Ruth Morton, "Piedmont" Parker, Judy Parnell, and Orpha Baxter.

Bessie Lee claims she got two corsages but that didn't overcome her grief when her pet dog was killed.

Jack Arvin preached his first real sermon at Cromwell, Oklahoma, over the holidays.

Glendol Grimes, Vada Ott, James Anderson, and Faye Thomason visited the State Penitentiary at McAlester, Oklahoma. While there, they added to their collection of souvenirs some costume jewelry which had been hand-made by the prisoners.

Ralph Steury came back to school via Bandana, Kentucky.

On his way to preach for the congregation near Cadiz, Harold

Preacher Paragraphs

In the face of conflicting activities, the Preachers' Club continues to function as regularly as possible. Only two meetings, those of December 14 and January 4, have been held during this six-weeks period.

Speakers for the former occasion were: Lowell Altizer, Leroy Murphy, Paul Hodges, and Don Gardner.

On January 4, the following appeared: Clyde Moore, Carroll Smith, Edsel Burleson and Roy Wilson.

Presidents for the succeeding terms of the current session have been elected. They are Burl Grubb, Joe F. Watson, and Charles Adams.

The repetition of the Preachers' Club Chorus Chapel program is scheduled early in the second week of lectures. This series of five songs with its attending stories so impressed the chapel assembly a few weeks ago that a restaging of it for the benefit of those visiting the lectureship was requested. A slightly altered chorus will perform similarly at Bruceton, Tennessee, January 23.

Composition Class To Stage Debate

As a result of the study on "Argument," the English Composition classes, under the direction of Brother W. C. Hall, have decided to stage a debate. Each class has chosen four of its members to take part in the debate and the topic has been selected. It is "Present day operations of major labor unions are undemocratic and detrimental to the welfare of our nation", a timely and interesting subject to all.

There will be a debate within each class to eliminate three and choose one to represent his class in the public debate in the Chapel Hall, some Saturday night in the near future.

Those chosen from section one are Jack Arvin, Lowell Altizer, Harvey Carter, and H. E. Johnson; from section two, Robert Wilson, Tommy McClure, Tommy Shaver, and Paul Randolph; from section three, Jerry Boone, Louis Garrett, Bobbie Lee Gault, and Reeder Oldham; section four, Ettie North, Glendol Grimes, Morris Norman, and Hardeman Nichols.

FIVE VISITORS—

monially, religiously, in every way.

On the same occasion, Bro. I. B. Bradley, of Dickson, one of the most beloved veterans of the gospel, spoke briefly, conveying his greetings, his winning philosophy on old age, and evaluating the College as next to the church, so long as it continues its present and well-worn path of loyalty and preparation for service in the Kingdom.

Hill suddenly realized that his voice was leaving him. He told one of his friends that if he winked at him during the sermon, to go get him a glass of water. Well—the church is a country church and is so situated that there are no homes nearby. So David asked if snow would do just as well and Harold replied that it would.

Harold began his sermon. He started coughing and winked several times before David decided he wanted the snow. David reappeared, bearing a snowball behind him, handed it to Harold who proceeded to pause in his sermon to eat the snow. The congregation roared. Freed-Hardeman preachers!

A repetition of a debate on the essentiality of "a confession of faith in Christ to remission of sins" is to be given for the visitors' benefit, Monday, January 14. Participants are: Affirmative; H. E. Johnston, Grover Stevens; Negative; Wesley Jones, Charles Adams.

The newly acquired recording apparatus is being successfully utilized during lecture periods.

LINSCOTT REPORTS ON TREASURE CHEST

Vannah Linscott, Editor-in-Chief of the Treasure Chest, reports the following:

Mr. Raymond Massey, representing the McQuiddy Co., came from Nashville, January 3, to bring annual supplies and discuss with the staff their choice of covers and other important matters.

Pictures were taken the first week in January at Ramon's Studio in Henderson. The pictures are expected back soon for the students to choose the print wanted.

On January 4 the student body voted on the features for the annual.

ALUMNEWS

On December 19, at Corinth, Miss., Marjorie Nelle Green '45 of Friendship, Tenn., was married to Lester M. Bates, recently in the military service.

Also at Corinth, on December 6, Lola May Yopp, of Middleton, Tenn., was married to Samuel V. Barr, of Johnson, Tenn., with alumnus Maurice Howell officiating. Lola is an F. H. C. alumna of '39 and has been teaching six years. The bridegroom is a graduate of Piney Flats School of Interior Decorating in Philadelphia and was recently discharged from the Army, having entered it in 1938, serving 53 months overseas, and received the Presidential citation. They will live in Memphis.

On January 2, Eleanor Dodds, '44, of Newbern, Tennessee became the bride of Alton Bradford, at the Church of Christ in Dyersburg. Betty Dodds '45 was one of her sister's attendants. Mr. John Dodds, their father, is also a Freed-Hardeman Alumnus.

Eleanor is teaching in Mississippi County, Arkansas, and the bridegroom was recently discharged from the Army after 25 months' overseas.

CLUB NEWS

PHILOMATHEAN

The Philos presented an interesting part of the program in joint society Monday, January 7.

Morris Norman read "The Shooting of Dan McGrew," then told a hair-raising tale of one of his alleged experiences. Stanley Lockhart sang "Symphony" and "Monk" Camp sang "Ole Man River." Also a skit that might have happened in Bolivar was portrayed by "Monk" Camp, Morris Norman, and Jere Bass. Jere Bass also accompanied the singers.

The Philos are glad to welcome Gene Frost back to their ranks.

They had a meeting after the joint meeting to discuss their pins for 1946.

PHI KAPPAS

At the joint society meeting Monday, January 7, one of the features was the lady with the two voices in the person of Marshall Joynes and his accordion.

Bertie Willbanks demonstrated her nimbleness in twirling the baton as part of the Phi Kappa program.

Marjorie Haliburton played a request number, "Boogie-Woogie," on the piano.

Harmon Caldwell sang "On the Road to Mandalay" accompanied by Marjorie Haliburton.

After joint society, Phi Kappas had a separate meeting to discuss pins for 1946.

SIGMA RHOS

At the joint society meeting Monday, January 7, the Sigma Rhos contributed their part of the program. Louise Garrett gave a serious recitation entitled "A Game Guy's Prayer." The Sigma Rho quartet, including Nadine Platt, Jack Crone, Harvey Carter, and Derrel Starling, sang "Purer in Heart" and "All Things Work Together for Good." Virginia Nettles recited "I Don't" and "Piedmont" Parker concluded the program with "Indian Love Call" and "It's Been a Long, Long Time" on the piano.

Because of the special lectures, the Sigma Rho chorus has not been meeting, but will resume its practices after the lectures are closed.

Jack Crone, First Vice-President, is working on plans for the next Chapel program to be given by the Sigma Rhos.

ALPHA TAU

Alpha Taus contributed their part to the joint society program, January 7. Ernestine Hooker read Ettie North's theme on the "Christian Home," one of those chosen for Bro. Hall's "file."

A male quartet including Don Vannoy, Edsel Burleson, Earl Richardson, and Carroll Smith sang "Christians' Welcome Home."

Alpha Tau chorus under the direction of L. W. Jones meets regularly to prepare its next chapel program.

BUSINESS COUNCIL

January 3, the Business Council met for its first meeting of the new year. The Council voted to accept the words for the Business Council song, written by Louise Garrett to the tune of the "Washington Lee Swing."

For the program planned by Jerry Boone and his committee, Ida Faye Boone discussed "Working With Others." A male quartet composed of Thomas Shaver, Stanley Lockhart, Robert Camp, and Morris Womack presented a different arrangement of "Sunset and Evening Star." Ralph King played two popular numbers on the piano.

Mrs. Folwell climaxed the evening by telling her story, "Dear Son," and held her audience in suspense to the last sentence.

Speaking of Sports

By Fred Stanfill

Since the beginning of the second quarter at Freed-Hardeman College, basketball has been taken very seriously throughout all of the societies. The turn-outs at the games have been fine, and each society backs its players with all the encouragement that it can. Many an interesting game has been played between the boys' and girls' teams of each society. The games are played with the usual clean sport and school society spirit. The games have been refereed with no favors pointing to either society. So far during the games of boys' basketball, the Phi Kappas lead, with the Sigma Rhos and the Alpha Taus tying for a second, Philos coming in last. But who can tell—some teams who get hard breaks occasionally turn out to be victors. Let's hope that each team can share in its number of wins during the season.

The girls' games have been as exciting as the boys. There has been plenty of hustle and tussle among the girls' teams. Leading in the girls' are Sigma Rhos and Phi Kappas with an even number of wins. In order to have many more exciting games during the season, turn out and really support your team. It makes the players play harder when their society backs them up. In order to keep posted on the games, be present at each one.

Brother and Sister Present Program

While visiting on the campus, Ben Adams '43, with his sister, Rosemary, now a co-ed at Freed-Hardeman, rendered a variety of numbers on the violin and piano respectively. Given on January 1, at the Chapel hour, their selections included "Ghost Dance," "Spanish Dance," "Third Air Vaire," "Mocking Bird," and "Fisher's Hornpipe," plus the "fiddling" of "Turkey in the Straw." "Junior" has developed even further the skill and talent that intrigued us when he was a student here.

VISITORS GIVE DAILY EXERCISES

Besides the evening sermons, special classes are being held each day on timely subjects in connection with our January courses.

Bro. C. E. McGaughey of Washington, D. C. conducts a study daily on "The Parables." Twice a day at 8:30 and 11:00 he discusses these examples taught by the Savior.

At 10:00 Bro. G. K. Wallace, of Wichita, Kans., presents lectures on the various phases of "Christian Living."

"Alleged Discrepancies in the Bible" is discussed at 1:00 by Bro.

F. H. C. STUDENTS MEET at CHRISTMAS

"Birds of a feather flock together." And "birds" from Freed-Hardeman must also try to find ways and opportunities to seek each other's companionship no matter where they be. One such meeting took place in Ohio this Christmas.

Harold Hill had an appointment to preach about seven miles from Cadiz, Ohio. Fearing that the assembly would be small his friends decided to meet in Cadiz and journey to hear Harold preach.

Those going included Delores Freeman, Audrey Pettry, Millie Lambert, Don Vannoy, and Richard Weaver all from Akron; Lloyd and Mary Flo (Cox) Whittington, both students of '45 and now living in Canton. Representing the southeastern part of the state were Bob Bond, Virginia Perkins, and one of Bob's friends. From Cadiz were Norma Barker, Doris Barker, David Meyers, Lynda Harper, and Dorothy Barker.

After church services, the group headed for Cadiz and dinner at the Barkers. A short trip to the lake and Sunday night lunch at the Harpers completed the day.

But still another reunion took place when the group from Akron stopped in New Philadelphia for evening services and were welcomed by the preacher, another Freed-Hardeman student of last year, Ralph Kidd, his wife and baby.

George De Hoff, of Murfreesboro, Tennessee.

At 3:00 each day Bro. Gus Nichols of Jasper, Alabama, presides over the round-table session. Questions are presented by any person and thorough discussions made of each.

Touch o' Jeanius

"All good things must come to an end"; so it was with the Christmas holidays. Joyce Swan, come on back down to earth! We know you must have enjoyed the time at home with your mother. ????

There's an overflow of gossip and it's no wonder after the overflow of dates Sunday night, the 6th. Mrs. Hamilton, we hear that the girls are sending you a box of candy in appreciation of your encouragement.

Everyone was enjoying himself with Paul McGaughey as No. 1 man at that "Saturday night get-together" last week. "Why can't we do this more often" as "Saturday night is the loneliest night in the week."

Mrs. Wilson, is the good food the only reason you have been coming to supper during the lectures?

"Miss" Mary, we didn't know you could look so pretty; is it the 14-day Palmolive plan?

Kathleen Booker, stop circulating "Paper Dolls"!

Jack Crone, goes around singing "I'm 1-A in the Army and she's A-1 in my heart." Who?

Seems that Margie Ehrett feels right at home in Bolivar!

Vada O. — remember, "You can't have your cake and eat it too!"

Have you read "Womack's Commentary on _____," Julia B.?

Jerry C. and Edsel B.: An old match relighted!!

A foursome of second year students we've seen together is Geneva B. and Joe M.; Nadine F. and John M.

"There's the social side of the lectures"—June H. and Naomi P.

Bertie: Let's go down town, girls.

Iva Mae: You know I'm broke after paying a quarter on that box of candy.

Maxine: I paid fifty cents—
Martha B.: I gave my last dollar.

(P. S. Bertie got a letter from home since. . . )

What's the matter, Fred S? Hitting the Nail too hard? A hint to the wise, Bill M. Take it easy.

Discussin' music, Martha Jean and Jere?

Ann and Clarence—they're perplexing. One minute they're together and at the lectures they're not. Stan and Ruth aren't easy to figure out either.

Don't tell me "Monk" has settled down? How about that, Martha Ann?

Seems like Harmon has other talents besides singing. How about that, Jeannette?

A little bird overheard Virginia N. saying, "You know I really like that Smith boy, he doesn't even hold my hand." A puzzling statement!

Angie has had several pleasant dreams lately and somehow they always begin and end with Cathy.

Questions for the Querious Minded:

Who'll win out — Leslie or Louis????

WHICH Tommy, Dorothy P. is always talking about?

Why Dot. H. suddenly had a vision for the violin?

Why all the girls are using Vicks products?

I must stop this chitter-chat. I have to get to lectures early so I can manage to save a vacant seat. Accidents do happen, you know? I hope. Lucky seatings!
