FHC Lectures Big Success

Large crowds attended the Freed-Hardeman Lectures to hear outstanding men of the brotherhood speak. The lessons delivered and the attendance during the lectures indicate one of the most successful programs during the history of the college.

John Brinn of Murray, Kentucky opened the lectures with a stirring sermon on "Two Sides to Every Act". His discourse was basically about the Lord's noticing the inward act of man's worship and not the outside motive alone.

Brother Homer Hailey spoke on "Personal Evangelism" each morning at 7:30 a.m. The first speech dealt with the importance of personal work. He advocated the fact it was so because it was the Lord's way and because we are commanded to teach. The remaining lectures dealt with the urgency of personal work, methods and the presentation of the scriptural plan.

At 8:30 Bro. Bus Nichols lectured on "Fundamental Denominational Errors." His plea was that it was their erroneous attitude toward the scriptures through false teaching which must be changed. He concluded by speaking on several major claims of denominations and refuting their beliefs.

The speakers during the chapel periods were Bro. H. F. Sharp whose subject was "What Am I Worth in the Master's Vineyard?" and Bro. Homer Daniel, "The purpose of Ezra." Bro. Marshall Keeble, president of National Christian Institute spoke

He served as Dean of Men at Freed-Hardeman for several years. His friendliness, kindness, devotion to duty and his great knowledge of the old languages have impressed thousands of students through the years.

Phi Kappas Win Trophy

By Earline Watson

The Phi Kappa Society was awarded the trophy for the winter quarter. Points were decided by a committee of four students, of which Virginia Seal, was chairman. The other members were Cornelia Ellis, Jerry Porter, and Bill Smotherman. Brother Gardner acted as faculty advisor.

The societies were judged on several bases. In attendance the Sigma Rho Society led with a score of 20 points. The Phi Kappas were second with 15 points. The Alpha Taus had only 5 points. The Philos did not score. In football, the Sigma Rhos again placed first with 10 points. The Alpha Taus and Phi Kappas

F-H GROUP ATTEND HOME EC WORKSHOP

Mrs. Forrest Johnson, sponsor of the Freed-Hardeman College Home Economics Club; Irene Crump, John Stone and Beverly Butler, president of the club and state recorder of the college clubs attended the annual Province V Workshop of the American Home Economics Association held recently on the campus of the University of Mississippi at Oxford.

These delegates met with about one hundred others from the college clubs of four states—Arkansas, Tennessee, Mississippi, and Louisiana—to discuss new plans and programs for the coming year.

While at Ole Miss the representatives attended a tea in the colonial home of Chancellor Williams, president of the University.

Meetings were held in the new alumni building, and meals were served in the college cafeteria. Officers for the new year were elected. This is the first year Freed-Hardeman Home Economics Club has been represented at the convention.

Food For Thought

Someone once said, "If I had a great deal of money I would really help the Lord's church more. This is an erroneous attitude because if you are not helping the Lord with what you have you would not do any better in fulfilling your obligations with a larger sum."

It is a fact that we would use our "great deal" in the same proportion that we are using our limited means.

This principal holds true in other phases of Christian work.

Time and time again we hear the age old excuse for not singing, "If I only had a good voice like Brother Canary I would sing." Did you ever take time to consider that the Master has promised to increase our abilities and help us to cultivate our talents if we will only use what we have?

It is a shame that so many students fail to participate in chapel singing. Some of the most talented are neglecting to use their abilities to praise the Father.

Every phase of christian worship is to be emphasized and certainly we should strive to improve in our singing so that we will be pleasing to the Lord.

Those who worship with the church in Henderson on the Lord's day are provided wonderful opportunities for advancing in Bible knowledge.

A well rounded Bible study program is conducted. However, many of the students are neglecting to fulfill their obligations to the Lord. Some do not attend at all while others are consistently late. Failure to attend causes one to miss fellowship with the Lord, miss the blessing of meditating on the truths revealed in his word.

When you fail to attend Bible study you are merely saying you have something that you at least consider more worthy of your time. In Matt. 18:20 the Lord said he would be present at such authorized assemblies and it is a shame for the Lord to be present and so many of the student body of Freed-Hardeman to be absent. Christ will be at Bible study next Lord's day morning, will you?

Those who go in Bible study late should stop and consider that their actions are denoting irreverence. Being on time is a mark of reverence toward the Lord's cause.

Would you not make a special effort to be on time to a ball game? Can't we make a special effort for the Lord?

Our attendance for mid-week Bible class has been good, but I'm sure we can improve. How many times have you exhorted your roommate or neighbor to attend Bible class if they are failing to do so? The Lord has promised to reward our efforts.

Strive now to impress upon your friends the importance of attending the mid-week services.

In the year before us let us use what little we have so that we might reach more souls, edify more saints, and personally draw closer to the Lord.

Bobby Joe Sims.

Study

By Bob Taylor

Diligence in daily study and meditation are requisites in living a life which would be acceptable to God. Young Timothy had been reared by a god-fearing mother and grandmother and had always been taught to familiarize himself with the scriptures of God. Yet Paul advised Timothy to this effect, "Study to shew thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth." Three reasons are thus given which were to prompt Timothy's search of the holy scriptures. They were: in order to stand approved in God's sight, that he might rightly divide or handle the word of truth. Should not these same three reasons stimulate our love for learning more about God and the power of his word? If not, why not?

One of the reasons the world is engulfed in darkness and error now is because people have failed to study the Bible. Brother Gus Nichols pointed out in one of his lectures that ignorance is the damning sin of our age. Multitudes grope about in darkness today because they have not learned the truth that Jesus said would make them free. But we do not have to go outside the church to find ignorance as far as the Bible is concerned. Few church members there be that are armed with the truth to the extent that they could uphold the truth for which we stand. To take one glance at these conditions should be reason enough to stir us to become more diligent students of the Bible.

But someone will arise with such an excuse as this, "I have no time to study the Bible. I am too busy making a living and tending to other matters to bother with daily Bible study." When we get too busy to read, study, and meditate upon God's heart searching word, we are too busy to live the Christian life. The average so-called Christian home of today has no time for family Bible study or family prayer. One young lady, who was about to start housekeeping, made the statement that she and her husband wouldn't have room or time for family worship. Such is the case with many and it shows the wrong attitude toward the greatest of all books. The one whose author is God. We ought to love the Bible, love to study and meditate upon it, and after that be like Ezra of old who wanted to teach his people what he had learned. (Ezra 7:10)

It is never too late to make resolutions. Why not resolve here and now to read a portion of his word daily and to be guided by it as was the Psalmist who said, "Thy word is a lamp unto my feet, and a light unto my path." (Psalms 119:105)

WANTED — A
CHEERING SECTION

It looked extremely rocky for the Lion Crew that night. The boys were on the court ready for the fight. The time had come for the cheering section to welcome the opposite team. But Oh! where were those students who should have been there to scream?

The poor dejected cheerleaders looked so forlorn and lost. They gave the audience a stare flavored with early morning frost. Of all the times to let them down, this was the worst by far. But then, their school spirit was never quite up to par.

The cheerleaders shouted with all their might and well did their share.

The students looked as if to say, "What are you doing out there?"

Discouraged the cheerleaders soon became, having to make all the noise too.

Do you think they're acting there, just for the benefit of you?

The handful of students who came didn't come to yell.

You say you came for a social hour? Well!

The want of that hour I can quite understand,

But, please girls, for a few minutes won't you forget your man?

In the dorms and on the campus, the students have plenty of zeal,

But during a ball game they clam up like a seal.

Come on students, put some force behind your team!

Wait until you get to the ball game to dispose of your steam.

When a game is lost the players they blame.

"They just can't play ball," all the students exclaim.

Do you ever stop to think how your cheering could help?

It is necessary to give the team that much needed pep.

Oh somewhere students are cheering, "On to victory", for their team,

And somehow, thru ages all, their cheering shall ever gleam.

But in FHC there is not cheering, tis sad to relate,

For with the cheerleaders, the students will not cooperate. Editorial Staff.

ODE TO AN AGED
TENNIS SHOE

By Foy Lisenby

Why art thou crying, ancient one?

What is the trouble all about? "My string is broken, O kind sir, And my spurpiece floppeth out."

"My tongue is coated, and my sole

Is full of holes, as you can tell; And worst of all, kind sir,

There is a rumor that I smell."

Cheer up, old fellow, don't be blue;

We all have troubles facing us. Do not be a pessimist;

Do not grumble, groan and fuss.

For life's rough road is filled with woes

With which we all must sometimes tinker.

And if you cannot be a rose, Just be content to be a stinker.

ON STUDENT COUNCIL

Bob Buchanan was chosen as the boys' representative to the student council during the senior class meeting Saturday, January 19. Bob will occupy the position formerly held by Carroll Eades. Carroll was called into the services this month.

ATTITUDE TOWARD VISITORS

From time to time throughout the school year, a great number of people visit the campus of Freed-Hardeman. Since the lectures—the period during which the most visitors come—are just recently past, it would be well if we, the students, stopped a moment to consider our attitude toward these guests.

Although the attitude during the lectures was generally good there is always room for improvement. Courtesy accompanied with friendliness is an absolute essential. However, care should be taken not to leave the impression that one is "gushing". It was an astounding fact that each day at noon during the lectureship the majority of the visitors were at the end of the lunch line. Wouldn't it have been much better if we had waited and been just a few minutes later to give our visitors preference?

The condition of the campus and the buildings depends to a large degree on the student body. Because of this we should be diligent in our efforts to preserve the property as well as keep paper and the like off the campus. Another problem is that of books being placed in the lobby of the administration building. At almost any hour of the day these books may be seen over in the window by the pencil sharpener, on the literature table, or in the hall by the water fountain. Let's take more care about these things and keep our school attractive.

After all, those of us here at Freed-Hardeman believe it to be one of the finest colleges on earth. We should advertise it so others in the future may enjoy the privileges we have. These visitors who come leave with an impression, and first impressions do count so very much! They will tell what they see when they reach home. Let us work together then to do our very best to improve our attitude toward visitors and thus help Freed-Hardeman on to even greater heights. Editorial Staff.

HOME EC NEWS

A Christmas party was given for the Home Economics Club on December 1st. An equal number of young ladies and gentlemen were served ice cream and donuts in the Home Economics room. The table was decorated with candles and Christmas greenery.

After the refreshments, a program of Christmas readings and songs were given by members of the Club. Miss Bettye White, a guest, played the piano the latter part of the evening which everyone enjoyed immensely.

Plans are now in progress for the Club to give a faculty dinner. Further announcements will be made.

MR. SHOPOSHNIKOV'S INJURIES ARE FATAL

On the night of January 18, 1952, at 8:19 1-2 p.m. Mr. Hugh Shoposhnikov died in the basement of the girls dormitory due to injuries received when he tried to build himself a home in the shoe of Miss Lois Stinchfield. He was 10 months, 8 days, 3 hours, 2 minutes and 39 seconds old. Never will there be another like Mr. Shoposhnikov!

He was born in the Alumni Office, on the Freed-Hardeman campus but moved into the shower room of the Girl's Dorm on December 11, 1951, where he remained the rest of his life.

The body lay in state at the Cranford and Crews Funeral Home in Room No. 5. Two sergeants-at-arms, Bettye Smotherman and Rena Faye Bishop, were placed at the foot and head of the beautiful satin-covered match box style casket in order that peace and quiet might be kept. Wreaths of the lovely Pepsi Cola caps and ping-pong balls were placed around the room. Each was decoratively tied with remnants of an old ironing cord.

The body was gently carried to the final resting place by the bereaved pallbearers: Norma Garrett, Marie Hamby, Elaine Bevis, and Tommy Norman. It was requested that Marie and Tommy carry the foot of the casket in order to prevent the blood from rushing to his head.

A final message was delivered by Misses Faylene Tyree and Nannie Mae Underwood, under the direction of Miss Glenda Dabbs. The title of the message was: "There is A Time and A Place for Everything." After the sermon the body was gently lowered six feet under to the sweet strains of "Now Is The Hour" and "Oh, Bury Me Not On The Lone Prairie,"—rendered—rather thundered by Miss Jackie Harvey and Miss Joanne Richardson. After the last sad rite had been said the entire mourning party proceeded to go around in sack-cloth and ashes.

This was the fatal end of Mr. Flemish Shoposhnikov—Oh yes, since we forgot to describe him at first, he was the cousin to Simon Cockroach, who temporarily abides in the room of June Hill and yours truly.

OFF THE RECORD

Pat Crumpton has come to be a man of few words. When asked how he liked Helen Hanna's new hairdo, he merely replied, "Nay".

It seems the postman usually helps cupid, but not so with Maxine and Allen. Anyway, it was worth waiting for, wasn't it, Macky?

No! It can't be! June Hill dropped chorus! Oh, well, never let chorus interfere with your "education", June.

Buck and Jan must have had a wonderful Christmas. Sisters do come in handy at times, don't they, Jan?

Have you heard what Joe Corley gave that little girl in Paragould? I have always heard Samsonite luggage is nice for travelling!

What is this? Are they actually studying? Oh, it's just Bettye Smotherman and Reta Watson trying to decide "which one". Could we help you, girls?

It looks like Marvin Noble has come out of hibernation again. Wonder who will be the next girl. By the way, it's a shame a few more of the boys on the campus don't follow his example. Doesn't it get kind of lonesome, fellas?

There are several new faces in the dorms this quarter. Among those in the girls' dorm are Wilma Wyatt and Doris Reynolds. It seems that the boys have already gotten acquainted, right?

What's the matter with the boys at FHC, Billie Ruth? Or do you just prefer town boys?

I heard by the grape vine that Bill Burton is the only one at FHC not in love. I'm not so sure about that!

And then there is Dale Buckley who tried to bribe the writer so his name wouldn't appear in this column. Fooled you, didn't I Dale?

Oh yes. Have you noticed that dreamy look in Lillian Peal's eyes lately? Could it be that picture of that boy "back home" that is causing it?

I've always heard that people in love "walked in the air" but I've never heard of walking around buildings. Is that something new, Harold and Mona?

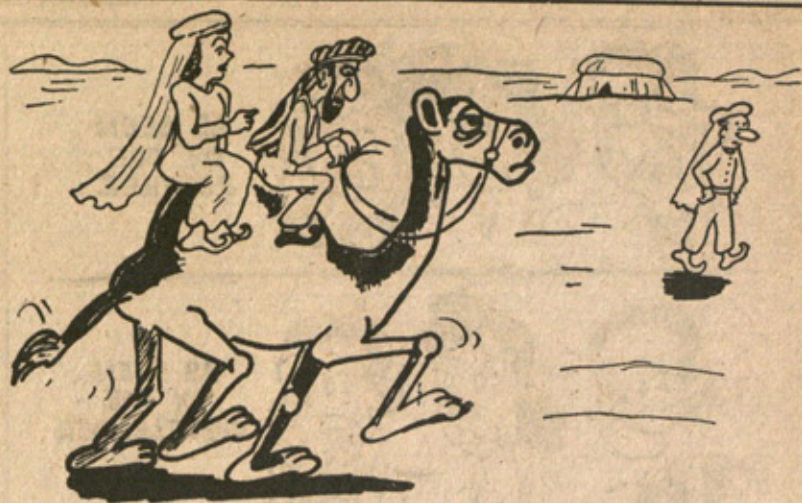

Chuch, how come you never stay around much on weekends? It must be nice to live in Jackson!

Who in the world do you find so interesting at Harding, Joe Pruitt; and why doesn't your roommate reveal who it is he secretly admires? Isn't Ken Ward keeping something from us also? Come on, boys. Confession is good for the soul!

Sarah and Ross are keeping quiet these days. Looks mighty suspicious.

What kind of notes does Bro. Hall require in Bible class? Do you really think you could pass a test on yours, Macky and Sue?

Now, I've heard everything! Irene is going to breakfast! You have more influence than we thought, Bob.

"SLOW DOWN, ABDUL. LOOK OUT FOR THAT PEDESTRIAN!"

If you boys run short on cash, try the stunt pulled by Charles Hellums. Call your girl long distance, COLLECT. Jane was so curious she accepted the charges. A man after my own heart.

Miss White surely does play the piano well, but we all agree that she and Paul McCullough make much prettier music together.

Believe it or not, Bro. Darnall told a funny joke the other day!

I guess everyone has seen Pam's big diamond Homer gave her for Christmas. It's so big she wore sunshades for two weeks because it hurt her eyes. Modest thing said she had the pink eye.

I wonder why some of these eligible bachelors aren't taken by now. We could mention a few such as Fred Hendricks, Phillip Copeland, Ronnie Milton and Bro. Randolph (How did that last name get in this list?)

Gatlinburg, Tennessee, headquarters town for Great Smoky Mountains National Park, is one of the most interesting resort towns of the world. With a population of only 1,300 it is prepared to house and feed 6,000 visitors in almost luxurious manner 365 days a year, year in and year out.

Sigma Rho Leads In Cagers Contest

Sigma Rho took a half game lead in the heated intramural basketball race by tripping Alpha Tau 30-18.

The tilt opened third round play in the circuit which has developed into a three team chase for the championship.

With half the season behind Phi Kappa is in a virtual dead heat with the Rhos and Philo is a game behind. Alpha Tau, meanwhile, has only one winning game to its credit, and is entrenched in last place. Philo was in similar circumstances after the first round, during which the team lost all three games. An all winning tryst through the second round, enabled the team to pull within flagging distance of the leads, despite their continued berth in third position.

Defending champ PK led the lop after the opening round. The team beat the other three societies while SR was whipping two for the second best record.

PK and SR were tied until the Rhos beat the Taus in the final game before printing deadline.

Three of the clubs had noticeable changes in roster after the holidays. SR lost Andrew Whisenhunt and added Philip Copeland and Ralph Riner, former varsity players.

AT was weakened by the departure of Micky Brasher, J. W. French and Snookie Lusk.

Philo lost five men: Frank Bogle, John Eason, Bob Barker, Bill Bingham, and Bobby Turner and signed Ed Forris. The PK roster remained intact.

SR tied PK for the lead after two games in the second round. The Rhos beat AT, 19-17, and Philos gave PK its initial defeat, 25-22.

After the holiday rest SR topped the Kappas, 36-27, and bounded atop the league standings. Philip Copeland bucketed 14 points to lead the attack. Dorsey Traw shot eleven.

Phi Kappa came back with a 23-12 verdict over Alpha Tau. J. H. Bullington and Paul Kidwell were pace setters with nine and eight points respectively.

In a varsity prelin Philo dropped SR into a tie for the lead with a 30-25 triumph. Farrell Till fired 10 points, Ed Morris 8 against the league leaders.

Philo ran its victory skeln to three by dropping Alpha Tau, 41-

11. Junior Wilder set an individual record for the season with a 20 point effort. Ed Morris contributed 13 to the Philo total.

The intramural season tentatively will last four complete rounds, giving each squad a twelve game schedule.

Lineups of post-holiday games

SR — Copeland 14, Traw 11, Dancer, Riner 7, Harris 4, Taylor, Hartsell, Rickman, Crumpton, Wilson.

SR 36, PK 27

PK — Bullington 9, Kidwell 8, Randolph 9, Funkhouser 2, Smotherman.

Girls' Basketball

The Society Girls' Basketball teams are in the middle of a big struggle for top place. From the eyes of the spectators it looks as if the Philos and Alpha Taus are really battling for this place. At present the Philos and Alpha Taus are tied for first place with a very weak knot. The Phi Kappas, now in second place are pushing vigorously forward. The Sigma Rhos are in last place but their captain says they promise to start moving.

Are you backing your team? You should be. And you loafers who enjoy a good ball game, drop in the gym and I am sure you will be glad you loafed there. Let's back our team and fill them with enthusiasm to win.

NEW VICE PRESIDENT

A special Freshman class meeting was called by President Harold Mobley on January 18, 1952, for the purpose of electing a new vice president, as Don Moore, the former vice president left us last quarter. Ronnie Milton, who hails from Oklahoma, was elected to serve as our vice president the remainder of this year. He is a preacher student.

Lions Defeated Union B Team

Daniel, Beaumann And Montgomery Lead Way

Billy Glen Dunavant's Freed-Hardeman Lions notched their second victory of the season with a 65-52 verdict over formidable Union University reserves. The Lions' opponents, who play second fiddle to no one except a college varsity which leads the Volunteer State conference, matched F-HC's fire power for just a quarter.

The first period ended in a 14-14 deadlock. The Lions, led by James Daniel, Carl Beaumann, and Fred Hendricks, moved to the front at halftime, 31-24.

Bill Montgomery fired in nine points during the third period as F-HC stretched its lead to nineteen points, 52-33.

The win, first for F-HC since a 60-48 triumph over emis 'Y' in the season opener was definitely a team victory. James Daniel, who consistently leads Lion point makers, did it with 17 this time. His effort was augmented by 13 points apiece from Carl Beaumann and Bill Montgomery and twelve markers by Fred Hendricks. Neither Beaumann nor Montgomery started either half but Carl fired the attack in the first half and Montgomery came on in the last.

The Lions lost two other games played after Christmas. Bemis Y won 80-65 to even their record against the collegians. Daniel scored 17, McCullough 15, and Hendricks 12 for FHC.

Martin College of Pulaski, beaten only once this season, dropped the Lions 65-41. Daniel scored a dozen points to pace the Lion offense.
