Fascinating incidents take place within the imaginative realm of a child's mind - but first the seed must be implanted by those who possess the ability to communicate with ones younger than themselves and spur their creative minds to greater heights. The Pied Pipers of Freed - Hardeman College is such a group. Their main goal is to develop a child's imagination and create a world all his own.

Time To Look Ahead

Along with all the various and sundry welcomes you have received since arriving at F-HC, the staff of the "Skyrocket" would like to add their sincere welcome to these.

College has started and everyone is looking ahead. Ahead to what? No two people have the same plans, goals, or dreams. Different as we are, we make up Freed-Hardeman College.

We should strive to do our best to support the activities of the school while making the very best use of the time spent here. It is hard for us as young people to appreciate the full value of time. Time cannot be bought or regained; once lost cannot be found. Ben Franklin once said, "Dost thou love life? Then do not squander time for that is the stuff life is made of." Let us utilize our time so that we have no regrets.

We are a part of Freed-Hardeman College, but the school year and Freed-Hardeman are to a large extent what we make them. Look ahead and do your best to make the school year a success and Freed-Hardeman stronger.

The Faculty Speaks

Let Us Lead

By John Bob Hall

(This month's guest faculty writer is Mr. John Bob Hall. Mr. Hall is director of the Madrigals, Hallmarks and WFHC-FM.)

On opening day, September 12, Vice-president Gardner pointed out as he read the Bible in chapel that we need to learn I Corinthians 14: 40; "Let all things be done decently and in order," and Philippians 4: 13, "I can do all things through Christ which strengtheneth me." To that, let us add Philippians 3: 13 and 14, "Brethren, I count not myself to have apprehended; but this one thing I do, forgetting those things which are behind, and reaching forth unto those things which are before, I press toward the mark for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus."

We are in a day and era when mediocrity cannot and will not be tolerated by mankind. Mediocrity occurs when one is satisfied with anything less

Religion in Life

Committed Christianity

Editor's note: Each issue of the Skyrocket will feature one of the members of the third-year class as guest writer of this article. This month's writer is Buster Mayberry from Nashville, Tennessee.

The claims of our Savior are inexorable; he desires all of us to choose to serve him with all our being. He wants all our service or none of it. Hear him speak: "No man can serve two masters: for either he will hate the one, and love the other; or else he will hold to one, and despise the other. Ye cannot serve God and mammon."

A lack of dedicated commitment among us today is one of the greatest hindrances to the spread of Christianity. Elton Trueblood, a noted scholar, has a pointed observation in one of his books, "The Incendiary Fellowship." He says, "Committed Christians do not represent the mainstream of Western culture." If he is correct we have little difficulty in understanding why our country is in such a sorry state of affairs. The Christian is to be the salt of the earth. His goodness should rub off on his contemporaries, and the world should be a better

Information: The Key To Understanding

Editor's Note: The following editorial by Carol Lagrone embodies the purpose of the 1969-70 Skyrocket. I hope that you will read it, enjoy it, and remember it. D. W.

What does the "Skyrocket" do for you? This question may seem rather absurd, but take time to consider it a moment. What is the role of a college newspaper? Is it just a gossip column or does it fulfill the same basic qualifications that a public newspaper does?

The purpose of any newspaper is to inform. Although most newspapers entertain and advertise also, the primary purpose is to provide the reader with useful information. Why? People need to know. The forefathers of America were quick to recognize the importance of informed people. James Madison said that a popular government without popular information is a farce. Thomas Jefferson was convinced that the way to prevent rebellions of the people lies in giving them full information of their affairs through newspapers. Even Patrick Henry, the radical who often disagreed with everyone, believed that free people must be informed. Informed people make a stronger nation. And people who know about their government generally make better citizens.

People, then, must be informed, and it is up to the newspaper to perform this function. Although radio and television provide a mass means of communication, they are more adaptable to "on the spot" reporting than to coverage in depth. The newspaper has the time and space to provide interesting details not possible on radio and television.

Like the public newspaper, the college newspaper's function is to inform, but it does so on a different level. The college newspaper is not primarily concerned with national affairs, but it is concerned with presenting clear-cut facts on what and when the events are happening on the campus. Modern college students do not want fairy-tale reporting. They are adult enough to accept reality as it is, and they demand a truthful account of what is occurring on their college campus. This, then, is a basic criteria for any college newspaper. The news must be presented clearly and truthfully.

The college newspaper also informs in an entertaining way through features. Good features on different individuals enable students to get to know each other and their faculty better. Columns written by various students and by faculty members give students an insight as to how others think. Students can often gain valuable tips on living with others from such columns.

The college newspaper is not a gossip column or an art collection for any stories, poems, or cartoons which may happen to be submitted to it. Such styles of writing are considered in bad taste for good journalistic production.

The college newspaper is the single most important link between students and the administration. A good college newspaper is invaluable in making better relationships between students themselves and between students and the faculty and administration. It informs and entertains in a way which will add to the total well-being of the student.

We believe that our newspaper is a good newspaper. We hope that you do, too.

than his best. Many times an individual is tempted to rest on his past accomplishments. By the very statement of Philippians 13: 13-14, the apostle Paul condemns mediocrity.

The history of man has been marked by great epochs, astonishing discoveries, and astounding inventions. These periods of great change were brought about by those who were unwilling to be mediocre and to rest on their laurels. These were men and women who had the ability to project a vision of greater things out of the meaningful experiences which they had. Education has become one of man's most vital institutions because through education is transmitted the essential knowledge and proper attitudes upon which growth and progress depend.

America has reached the pinnacle of world leadership because our people have faced the opportunity to develop this land under a constitution that gives them political freedom and encourages initiative, enterprise, responsibility, industry and thrift. And today our great American heritage requires that the sons and daughters of the astronauts must be prepared to expand the horizons beyond that which man has ever thought or asked.

The society in which we live is seeking individuals for leadership roles whose vision and dedication go beyond their commitments to special groups. Further, our society provides opportunities and incentives for individuals to distinguish themselves. What are the requirements for the sons of the astronauts to qualify for the leadership roles offered them?

1. Pains-taking preparation. At Hyde Park, New York, in the home of Franklin D. Roosevelt, there are nine drafts of one of his famous speeches. All great leaders know that they have to undergo tedious and thorough preparation.

2. A high aim and a noble purpose. Three great sins of many would-be leaders of today are indifference, ignorance, and indecision. "The crime is not to fail, but to aim low."

3. Long days and sleepless nights. As Jessie B. Rittenhouse wrote,

I bargained with Life for a penny
And Life would pay no more,
However, I begged at evening
When I counted my scanty store.

For Life is a just employer,
He gives you what you ask
But once you have set the wages
Why, you must bear the task.

I worked for a menial's hire.
Only to learn, dismayed,
That any wage I had asked of Life
Life would have paid.

4. A built-in system of moral and spiritual control. Too many people have a warped idea of freedom and liberty. To be successful, we must learn to set limits for ourselves. We must develop a strong, conscientious code of ethics. Steam engines have pop-off valves to indicate a malfunction. We must learn to recognize danger signals within ourselves.

This year will be long remembered in each of our lives. Let us lead. Let us remember this year as the first in a long succession of successful ones.

It matters not how straight the gate,
How charged with punishment the scroll.

I am the master of my fate;
I am the captain of my soul.

Zeal, Knowledge Characterize Faculty Additions, Returnees

by Donna Stanfill

In addition to the many new students on campus this fall, Freed-Hardeman has gained five new faculty members.

Joining the Department of Speech as a teacher of speech and theater is Henry M. McDaniel, Jr., a native of Jackson, Mississippi. In addition to Pensacola Junior College, Mr. McDaniel attended two schools while in the Navy. He received a B.A. degree in speech from Harding College, and, this summer, received an M.S. degree at Florida State University. Mr. McDaniel's particular field of interest is theater, especially directing. Already he is involved in organizing a theatrical group on the campus.

Joy McDaniel joins the faculty this fall as a teacher of a course for reading improvement. Mrs. McDaniel received an associate of arts degree at Freed-Hardeman, as well as a B.A. and an M.A. in education at Harding College. Although teaching is of much importance to Mrs.

McDaniel, she also enjoys reading and cooking oriental food. Both of the McDaniels agree, however, that the center of their attention is their thirteen-month-old daughter, Keli.

Freed-Hardeman now has two professional librarians. Myrna Green, from New Orleans, comes to us this year as a circulation librarian. Miss Green received a B.A. degree in psychology and sociology from Harding College in 1964. She worked for a time at Tulane University as a librarian in the inter-librarian loan department before completing requirements for a master's degree in library science at Louisiana State University this year. Some of Miss Green's interests are reading, sewing, and bowling.

The Department of Business Administration is gaining Ruby Morton, of Henderson. Mrs. Morton attended Freed-Hardeman for fourteen years - from the first grade through two years of college. She received an A.B. degree at Union University. At one time Mrs. Morton served as a registrar here, while also aiding in the Business Department. Mr. Morton is in the auto motor parts business. They have two daughters, Martha, who is a sophomore in high school, and Cindy, who is a sophomore here.

John Parker, also an alumnus of this college, began teaching here at the beginning of this year's summer session. He graduated number one in his class from Freed-Hardeman and number two in his class from David Lipscomb. He also did graduate work at the University of Tennessee at Knoxville. A teacher of English and world literature and English composition, he is interested in journalism and will be working with the "Treasure Chest" staff in an advisory capacity.

Three of our teachers received doctor's degrees this year. We now have seven on the faculty who have received this degree.

In June, Eugene Hibbett, chemistry instructor, received his Ph.D. degree in pharmaceutical chemistry from the University of Mississippi, Oxford. Dr. Hibbett attended Freed-Hardeman and received

B.A., M.A., and M.S. degrees from David Lipscomb College, the University of Alabama, and the University of Mississippi, respectively. In 1958 he began teaching at Freed-Hardeman. At the beginning of the summer session this year he resumed teaching after a three-year absence.

Howard Trull, chairman of the Department of Natural Sciences, reoccupies his place here after a leave of two years. Dr. Trull was engaged in graduate work at the University of Mississippi, Oxford, where he received his Ph.D. degree in biology in August. His B.A. degree was received at Middle Tennessee State University and his M.A. was received at George Peabody.

Thomas B. Warren, chairman of the Department of Bible, completed requirements for his Ph.D. in philosophy at Vanderbilt University in Nashville this past June. Dr. Warren holds a bachelor's degree from Abilene Christian College and M.A. degrees from the University of Houston and Vanderbilt University. Before joining the Freed-Hardeman faculty in 1964, he served as president of Fort Worth Christian College and as a full-time minister.

Also returning to our campus after a study-leave is John McDonald, music instructor. He has been studying at Northwestern University in Evanston, Illinois. He has completed all the requirements for a Ph.D. in the field of musicology except the dissertation on which he is now working. In addition to teaching music appreciation, piano and organ, Mr. McDonald is sponsoring the Alpha Taus and the music club.

WFHC Begins Fourth Year

WFHC-FM, Freed-Hardeman's student-operated radio station, has begun its fourth year of broadcasting. The station is programmed by a staff of twenty-eight students, both announcers and engineers, under the direction of Mr. John Bob Hall, station manager, and Billy Smith, program director. WFHC-FM presents a format of entertainment, information, and education for students who wish to further their interests in radio broadcasting as well as providing listening enjoyment.

Various programs can be heard daily on WFHC-FM, 91.5 on your radio dial. Easy listening music can be heard daily from 1:00 p.m. to 10:00 p.m. with the exception of Wednesday in which the time period will be from 1:00 p.m. to 6:30 p.m.

The various announcers are Pat Hogan, Chris Lynn, Gaye Shepherd, Billy Smith, Keith Smith, Alvin Parnell, John Howlett, David Dunn, and David Jackson. Albums will feature such artists as the Lettermen, Al Martino, and Glen Campbell.

The news, compiled and edited by the radio staff, can be heard each evening at 6:00 p.m. Weldon Howard, Danny Mize, David Dunn, David Spiceland and Richard Moss, headed by David Jackson, news director, are doing a top-notch job.

All Lion basketball home games will be broadcast live by Billy Smith and Pat Hogan.

"We would like to encourage everyone on campus to listen to our daily program because we feel that this is the student radio station and one in which he can take part," stated Billy Smith.

Treasure Chest Staff Appointed

Under the able leadership of Editor David Jackson, work has begun on the '69-'70 "Treasure Chest". David is aided by Kay Pedigo and Jane Woodring, who serve as assistant editors, and Cindy Morton, business manager.

To date, preliminary organization and planning has been done. Section editors for this year are Jim Savage, Jo Ann Kirby, Meredith Bobbitt, Beth Saxton, Gale Fish, Bobby Edwards, and Barbara Troup. Rick Webb will be the photographer.

John Parker has been added as a faculty advisor. He will assist Mrs. Bloomingburg who has worked with the annual staff for the past several years.

The cover of the '69 "Treasure Chest" was chosen to appear in the annual catalog from Durand Company. David congratulates last year's staff and remarked that he is "bracing up for the task ahead."

Speech Festival Slated In October

Students and faculty of Freed-Hardeman College are looking forward to the Intramural Speech Festival.

The festival, an annual event at F-HC, has as its main purpose the encouragement of students toward increased use and development of speech abilities through the avenue of Christian competition in a variety of speech activities.

Individual events are scheduled for October 25. These events will include Bible reading, extemporaneous speaking, and serious dramatic interpretations. On October 27, competition in the field of debate will begin. Judges for all these events will be the faculty and staff members from the college.

Bringing the Speech Festival to a climax will be a banquet on October 30. At this time individual awards will be given along with the announcement of the social club compiling the most points during the festival.

TOP FROSH - Kay Pedigo, Sophomore from Manchester, Tennessee, received the coveted D.E. Mitchell Scholarship. Kay compiled the highest academic average in last year's freshman class - a perfect 4.0. Trailing close behind were Hubert Langley 3.97, Stephanie Vickers 3.88, Dwina Whittle 3.84, David Jackson 3.778, and Jane Woodring 3.774.

Registration Day Mass Organized Confusion

Registration Day, in every aspect, gave birth to the year of the "Apollo Spirit" at Freed-Hardeman College. Following three days of tedious orientation, the freshman discovered the main task was before them.

Carefully planned trial schedules became only memories as classes closed in rapid succession, or as the students discovered that some classes had the unusual characteristic of lasting longer than one hour.

When the final bill had at last been totaled, 758 young men and women had been transformed into the 1969-70 F-HC student body.

Contrary to a widely circulated rumor that a new boy-girl ratio had been established, campus coeds gracefully accepted the inevitable news that male companions must be shared during the year.

To climax the big day, sophomores played host to a "Howdy Party" held in the gymnasium. Soon the freshmen were enveloped within the friendly and spiritual F-HC atmosphere. Effects of the event are still obvious as a result of the computers matchmaking ingenuity!

Today, three weeks later, the spirit, fellowship, and unique relationship continues on the upward move. The current year is destined to be dynamic-filled with activities, studies, and new acquaintances.

Lions Start Basketball

Freed - Hardeman's Lions started practice for the 1969-70 season last week and are hoping to improve on last year's 11-17 record. The Lions had a poor start last year, losing nine of ten at one point, but finished well and made it to the first round of the Region 7 NJCAA Tournament.

Coach Hoyt Kirk says "Prospects so far are definitely good because among the 23 boys out for the team, several are over 6' 6" and know how to handle themselves well." Returning from last year's squad are five lettermen: Ruben Brown, Dwight Hamner, and Joe Brooks, who were regular starters, and Ron Ricketts and Mac Bumpus, who saw a lot of action late in the season.

In addition to these and the freshmen prospects, three players, Ken Hardin, Mike Poer, and Glen Smith, have transferred from Bethel College, the Lions opponent for Homecoming Game.

The Lions will again be in the Tennessee Junior College

Association, which was formed last year after the old Dixie Conference disbanded. After the opener with Bethel, the Lions face eight straight conference foes.

Among the toughest teams Freed-Hardeman will have to play are Cumberland, who beat the Lions four out of four last year, Martin, and Columbia. Rounding out the Conference are Hiwassee, Cleveland State, Morristown, Jackson State, and Chattanooga City.

Ancil Johnson, a former student at Freed-Hardeman has been purchased by the New Orleans Buccaneers of the American Basketball Association. Johnson, who was drafted by the Denver Rockets of the ABA in the pro-basketball draft, was obtained by the Buccaneers to strengthen their front line.

The 6' 7", 205 pounder attended Freed-Hardeman from 1965-67 and was named player of the year in the Dixie Conference in 1967 with a 20 point average. He was named to the National Junior College Athletic Association All-American third team at Hutchinson, Kansas the same year.
